INTRODUCTION:

This may be the start of a new series of teachings on the heart, blood, connection to the Soul of the Man (STM), and how the emotions function. Hidden in this workshop is a beautiful teaching about how we connect our life in physicality (P) with the two souls in the body through the blood, which is a Gans, and through the M fields, it translates our behavior to the soul, via the emotions. At first it may sound a little bit complicated, but that's only because there are a lot of different things going on. But we will try to unravel it slowly and clearly, and in the end we hope it will makes perfect sense, and actually very simple. So stick with the teaching and try to read it over and over again, while pondering your own feelings and emotions, and how they relate to your souls and the rest of your life.

Actually, this teaching brings up a very good question we all are confronted with today. The so called spiritual teachers always write books about feeling the heart, and forgetting the thinking process. By our feeling we know that partially this is correct, because we do feel it very strong in our heart when we connect to our soul, or our deeper feelings inside us. It's not to argue with anybody, because people don't yet accept that, the tiny dot, that shows up on the MRI is what we call the STM - so they ignore it. We are not saying the thinking process, or the intellect, what in Sanskrit they call the "Buddhi," is the soul.

Basically, why we feel it so strongly in the heart is because the fields of the two souls, the STM and the Soul of the Physicality (STP) converge in the heart. The STM shines down upon the heart, and like the sun, it never sleeps. Pay close attention to the flow of the drawings Mr. Keshe makes.

The STP is created out of the interactions of the 2 sides of the heart, because they have different fields strength. Plasmas interact when you have a gradient, or a difference in field strengths. What we call oxygenated blood and deoxygenated blood are of two very different field strengths, thus creating a powerful interaction - so powerful that it creates the STP. Keep in mind that the blood circulates throughout the whole body like a rotating reactor, that generates fields. It comes in contact with trillions of cells and carries all that M field information from the cells to the heart, or the STP, which then transfers it to the STM. The STM stores that information like the liver stores blood in our body.

This information is like a recording of our behavior, because the emotions are a M field strength, and that is transfer to the heart, and then to the STM, where it is stored. So everything we do in our life is recorded and stored. If this is understood this, do we really think, that we can hide bad thoughts and actions from the soul? When people say, they see their life flashing before them when they come close to death, is this where all that information is stored? There is a lot to ponder about here.

This explanation gives a much clearer understanding of the STP, rather than just thinking of the term "STP." Something that I started to do spontaneously, is to visualize the 2 sides of the heart gathering all those fields from the whole body, and spinning around each other creating the STP, and then the STP in the heart, interacting with the STM in the center of the head. It feels so complete, like a complete feeling of myself, not cut up into parts, or confusion anymore. And then seeing the 3 MaGrav coils 1st reproductive unit, 2nd heart and intestine, and 3rd is the STP in the position of the STM, and the straight line up to the Creator - the All Seeing Eye, all the time with the interaction of spreading the technology and creating world peace. It feels like having the STP in the place of the STM is elevation of the STP.

Finally, Mr. Keshe asked us, that the next time you feel emotion in your heart, try to feel, if it is the emotion of the STM. If you decide that it is, then feel it further, if it interacts with the Soul of the Creator. If it does you'll become aware of the knowledge of the Unicoise, and the creation.

Thank you for listening to this beautiful teaching.

Summary:

A Knowledge Seeker (KS) started his question by saying, it was a wonderful gift you have given for the birthday of Rafael, it's quite fitting. His question was about the difference between the intellect and the heart.

People who identify with so called, spiritual communities, they tend to always say, that we should come from the heart, because that is the strongest field. He had been attempting to teach some of Mr. Keshe's and KF teachings to these people, that the location of the soul is within the brain. But these people have learned a slightly different understanding, (they have a bias against the intellect and too much emphasis on thinking, so they have great difficulties with the idea, that the soul could be within the structure of the brain, and could be more powerful than the heart.) They constantly say, "no, no, come from the heart and forget what is in the brain." (A side note: from the point of view of the knowledge of creation - is the intellect really the same as the soul?) He asked Mr. Keshe to speak about this and expand the knowledge in this area?

Mr. Keshe asked him, "in what form?"

He answered, perhaps I want to know why are the fields of the heart perceived to be so strong? Is it the manifestation of 2 other fields, the fields within the brain and the fields within the body, or should we say, that the Soul of the Man (STM) and the Soul of the Physicality (STP) together create those strong fields?

Mr. Keshe answered, "exactly, that's exactly what it is." One is tuning to the other and vice versa. This is what happens when you find yourself saying, "my heart says not to do this." Because you have received the message from the soul.

The heart is a translator, it interprets the messages (from the soul). Understanding of the totality is the part where we say my heart says, "don't do it," but where did the heart get the message from? Partially from its own interaction with the matter state fields, and partially from the soul. The STM never sleeps, just as the sun never stops shining. It's the man who is either facing the sun, or standing on the backside of the earth in the darkness. Then we receive the light of it with different strengths. It's the same with the STP.

Very strange, maybe in the future mankind will understand. The STM shines in all dimensions and directions. (He is talking about the drawings on the screen). What happens when this sun, shines on the left side of your heart, or on the right side? Does the position of the heart in respect to the soul, create different field interactions, or different strengths? Does this position creates different emotions within the man?

Which part of the heart receives the highest order air from the lungs first, and which receives the lowest order? The reason we feel emotions is because of the field interactions with the soul, and the conversion of the fields within the heart. That's why we say, "we feel our heart," because the sun (STM) sits above the heart in the center of the brain (shinning down on it.)

The heartbeat of the man is like a rocking chair, continuously moving in different positions. Then you understand why man has emotions and mixed emotions. (Mr. Keshe once said, when you change positions you absorb different fields.)

The sun, or the soul does not stop shinning. It's the position of the heart, which receives its fields, and then (it is) how you react (to it). The blood flow is sporadic in its circulation in the body. The blood condenses in this area of the heart. So it has more possibilities of interactions (with the soul). The heart gives to, and receives from the soul. It's not a one-way traffic, that it only receives. When our emotion goes to the heart, it feeds the soul, and the soul communicates with other souls. "That's how your balance, of your doing comes. We see how things turn out." This is how we feel the fields, due to what we call, the science of physicality.

The blood circulation through the heart consists of dark blood or what we call, deoxygenated blood, that flows in, and oxygenated blood, that flows out. With the new knowledge we now understand, that the blood of the man is a Gans, which is a plasma or an energy state. It brings not only the blood to the heart, but also the emotion of what the physicality of the man has done. (Does this mean that our behavior, our correct and incorrect conduct, is brought to the heart and then to the soul? In other words we cannot hide anything from the soul, our blood is like a recording machine).

Every blood that comes into the heart (the information is stored), like the way the liver stores the surplus blood. The STM has the same "liver," it's a memory bank of whatever information has been brought to it from the physical emotion (traveling through the blood.)

"Then you have the source of life on the environment, and this comes with a different (field) strengths." In the world of physicality we look at how much blood passes through the heart. But in the new knowledge we look at (the field interactions that occur in the heart.)

(To understand this properly you need to watch the drawings, because he explains how the STP is created by interaction between the different fields, from the different sides of the heart.) One side of the heart brings in the oxygenated blood, and the other side of the heart brings in the deoxygenated blood. (In the world of plasma this means oxygenated blood is brighter, so it has more energy, and deoxygenated blood is darker and energy has been taken from it. We know Gans's by their color, not matter state "atomic structure." The difference in field strength between these two sides is what causes them to interact with each other.)

The interaction of the fields between these two different sides of the heart is what creates a new dimension, what we call the STP.

This in turn, interacts in a mixture of fields with the STM. The same as it gives, it takes. The exchange of information (carried in the blood from all the countless cells in the body), goes to the central bank, (the STM), or most of it does. The rest of it, through the blood circulation is carried around the brain through the skull and comes back to the heart.

Something that we never really understood is, where does the G fields start, and where does M fields finish? If you understand this, then you can do a lot in the future technology of understanding the knowledge of creation, to decide on the condition of the physicality of the man.

The STM and the STP have to work in unison, to keep the soul and physicality in all dimensions, as a field. The physicality manifests itself, through the interaction with the fields of the environment.

Now, you tell me why do I feel that emotion in my heart. The heart is where the sun shines (down upon) and interacts with the totality of the fields (gathering in the heart). Whereas in the head, it collects (fields through the circulation of the blood), around the brain, which only carries information about the physical interaction. The essence of the physical soul of the man is in the heart.

If you understood this, then earth, moon, Jupiter, planet Zeus, or another galaxy, is how we allow this field (STP) to interact with the field of the soul (STM), (and if together) they decide, then it leads to the creation of the dynamic physicality of the ?? zinc. It's as simple as that. (I am sorry it is not clear what this means, other than the 2 souls decide whether to manifest physicality).

You convert this into the knowledge, where the sun is the soul of the creator of the man, and then you have the STM, it's the same. Then you understand, what I call , the STP, then you see, how the STM, STP connects through to the Soul of the Creator. It's so simple. (What I understand is both the STM and STP are connected directly to the Creator.)

The next time you feel emotion in your heart try to feel, if it is the emotion of the STM. If you decide that it is, then feel it further, if it interacts with the Soul of the Creator. If it does you'll become aware of the knowledge of the Unicose, and the creation.

As Messengers we understand the totality of the knowledge of creation, that's why we can teach so naturally, and at the level everybody can understand.

Q: Nikolai, ... (2:22). .. it's a wonderful gift you have given for the birthday of Rafael, that's quite fitting. .. with the intellect and the heart. In what I would call, so called, spiritual communities, otherwise people who have, let's say spiritual community. they say come from the heart because that is the strongest field. In attempting to teach some of these teachings that come from the KF, and your knowledge of the greater collective knowledge about the location of the soul within the brain. These people who have learned a slightly different understanding have great difficulties with the idea that the intellect, the soul in the brain could be more powerful, or .. perhaps, that the soul could be within the structure of the brain. that is very difficult for them. And they say, "no, no, come from the heart and forget what is in the brain." Can you speak to this and perhaps expand some knowledge in this area?

K- In what form?

Q: Perhaps I want to know in which regard, how are fields of the heart perceived to be so strong. Is it the manifestation of 2 other fields, that the fields within the brain and the fields within the body, the STM and the STP, (2:24), create those ..?

K- Exactly, that's exactly it is. One is tuning to the other and visa versa. This is what your ?? self says, my heart says, don't do, because you receive the message from the soul. It's a translator, interpreter of the message. Understanding of the totality is the part we say my heart says, don't do, and where did the heart get the message from? Partially its own interaction of the fields on the matter state (S), and partially from the soul. The STM never sleeps, the sun never stops shining. It's the man who is on the facing of the sun, side of the earth, or on the back of it (earth).

It's then we receive the light of it with different strengths, it's the same with the STP. Very strange, maybe in the future mankind will understand. .. The STM shines in all D and directions. What happened when this sun, (2:26). shines on the left of your heart, or the right of your heart. Would the position of the heart in respect to soul, create different field interactions, of different strengths, that is creates different emotion within the man. Which part of the heart will receive air from the lungs first of the highest order, and takes back from the other.

The field interaction with the soul and the conversion of the fields of the heart, that's why we feel the emotions, we feel my heart, because the sun sits above in the center of the brain. And now you have this rocking chair of the heartbeat of the man, in different positions continuously. Then you understand why man has a mixed emotion, ?? and emotion.

The sun, the soul does not stop shining. It's the position of the heart which receives it, and then how you react. (2:28). The blood flow is sporadic in the body .. in the circulation, it condenses in this area (of the heart). So it has more possibilities of interactions (with the soul), as it gives (to soul), it receives. It's not a one-way traffic that we only receive. When our emotion goes there, it feeds the soul, and the soul communicates with other souls. That's how your balance, of your doing comes. We see how things turn out.

We see how we feel the fields, due to what we call, .. you got to understand something very simple. This goes back again to .. science of P. You have the heart of the man, .. blood circulation which we call the dark blood, deoxygenated, and we have a blood which is oxygenated. Now we understand the blood of the man is a Gans. (2:30). Brings not only the blood but with brings the emotion of what the P has done. Every blood when it comes into the heart ..., like the way we have the liver which we store from the blood, surplus. The STM has the same liver, memory bank of what ever has been brought from the physical emotion. Then you have the source of life on the environment, and this comes with a different strength. We look at the physical condition in how much blood it goes. In the new knowledge we look at how much fields it brings in (oxygenated blood side), and how much fields this one (deoxygenated side). The interaction of the fields between the two creates a new D, what we call the STP. And this in turn interacts in a mixture of fields with the STM. The same as it gives it takes. Exchange of information in the central bank, or most of it, because the rest of it through the same blood flow will go around the brain, the skull and comes back. It's very much what we never understood. Where does the G starts, and where does M fields finishes. (2:32). If you understand this, then you can do a lot in the future T of understanding the knowledge of creation (KOC) to decide on the condition of the P of the man. These two (STM & STP) have to work in unisons to keep the soul and P in all D as a field. Where the P is manifestation and interaction with the fields of environment.

Then now you tell me, why do I feel that emotion in my heart. It's where the sun shines, interacts with the totality of the fields, where here (in the head) it collects in the circulation around the brain, information only about physical interaction. Where the essence of the physical soul of the man in the heart. Now you understand. Then if you understood this, earth, moon, Jupiter, planet Zeus, another galaxy, is how we allow this field (STP) interact with the field of the soul to lead to the, if decided, to creation of the dynamic P of the ?? zinc. (2:34). It's as simple as that. You convert this into the knowledge, where the sun is the soul of the creator of the man, and then you have the STM, it's the same. Then you understand, what I call , the STP, then you see, how the STM, STP connects through to the STC. It's so simple.

Next time when you feel it in the heart, see if you can feel the emotion of the soul, and then that emotion of the soul, if you can feel it, then you decide is it, with interaction of STC. Then you become aware of the knowledge of the Unicose, the creation.

As Messengers we understand the totality, that's why we can teach so normal and so on the level that everybody can understand.

Any other question. (2:36).
