INTRODUCTION:

This teaching brings together a lot of the different information's we already received in part 1, "The Cycle of Creation," and Creation Part 2 -"How we are Created", into a deeper understanding of the basic pattern of creation itself. It starts out with the amino acid (AA), that oily stuff that forms on the top of the water when we make Gans's.

The AA is a plasma and when you put it under vacuum conditions with emotion you get the cell of the man. When we go to KF Institutes to see it before our very eyes, then we will know beyond a shadow of a doubt how correct the technology (T) is. It's a vacuum inside the body, where all the Gans's are converted into cells. I am sure this knowledge will be opened up much more in the future.

The next part of the teaching is very compact and took many days to open up part of it. I would like to share with you what I discovered, in as basic a way as possible. It's important to follow along with the drawings. The Creator is a Fundamental Plasma (FP) out of which everything got created, and continues to create. The process of which this is done is called, "nuclear decay." This is not a correct term for this, because decay means something rots. It's not at all like that.

To describe this Mr. Keshe drew a red circle representing a FP, and inside it, drew the lines of M fields that begin to interact with each other and gather and release energies. This is the same, as when the video, that shows 2 M fields interacting in space. The only thing is, we forgot to think about its containment. Those fields were not just free in space, their FP is the Universe. As the M fields inside the FP gain strength they begin to form a plasma of their own inside the FP. This is represented by a blue circle in the drawing. So now it would appear that we have plasmas inside of plasma. For these plasmas to interact with each other they need a common denominator to connect them together, which is the center of the FP. When one of these internal plasmas reaches the appropriate strength it is ejected out of the FP to find it's position to begin a new life cycle.

This process is basically the heart of creation. It repeats everywhere whether it's the splitting of a neutron into a proton and an electron. If you think of a mother as a neutron, then when she gives birth she becomes a proton and the baby an electron. Something to ponder, after giving birth is the mother still the same mother?

This is just the beginning there are many more variations to come. But if you understand this basic process then you can watch the life around yourself and see the essence of this pattern.

The next big theme of this teaching is, where did the fields that created the Creator come from? Since there always seems to be one space bigger than the Universe and Creator is created out of, so where is the beginning? Then if we cannot find a way to comprehend this, does it mean the physicality is a mirage? Remember he is talking about the physicality.

One thing I think about is in the dream state, we don't go through the process of evolution. The dream just starts, it's all there, and then it just ends.

Is the Creator within me?
Or am I within the Creator?

Thank you for listening.

Summary:

The 431 KSW started by Mr. Keshe requesting the video "How does plasma science work," be shown. The focus is understanding how the field interact with each other. He went on to say that many of us have seen these pictures many times and have read the books, and we have made the Gans's, and everything else, but how far do we know about what we are studying? How much do we think about what we see and study, or is it just an image on the screen?

From these pictures it comes down to the point that even an amino acid (AA) is a plasma (Pl). All of us in the Keshe Foundation (KF), see the flat oily substance floating on the top of the Gans Box. But what happens if we turn this plasma, into a vacuum condition? How would the AA look as a plasma, is it truly 3 dimensional? If you put the AA of CuO, ZnO, CO₂, CH₃, or other Gans's in an appropriate vacuum condition for it to take its optimum shape, and what we call, emotion, what would we get?

For sure, we would get the shape of a cell of a man. For sure all of us who have been working with Gans's, for the first time we would see that structure. (For many of us this might be a shock, because right before our eyes we would see the proof of the technology. We would realize that this strange substance we have been working with for years, without truly knowing what it is, would now suddenly appear as a cell of the man. There would be no way to deny it.)

Now you will see (and understand) that things that are in the vacuum condition of the body of the man, behave in a different way. Then we see how we can replicate the man, by the fields and plasma of the man. (The replication occurs) by the essence of the center of operation of the AA, what we call, the soul of the AA.

There is one, even more fundamental thing, when we put the AA in a 3 dimensional condition. That cell as an interactive entity, is a Fundamental Plasma, a neutron, and is the beginning of another (life) cycle.

In all the teachings and books, we continuously speak about the Fundamental Plasma, which is the beginning by its nature. (Within the Fundamental Plasma) the initial motion of the M fields moving in different directions (and opposite to each other), with different strengths and sizes, (begins the process of forming a new plasma within itself). Because these all have one common denominator in the center of the Fundamental Plasma, they behave and interact as being connected to each other. You only can bring plasmas together when they have a common denominator base function, in respect to the environment, that they exist in.

You might have one plasma that does not exist on Earth, but that fundamental plasma exists on the moon. Since we haven't been to the moon, we have no awareness of it, we don't know about its existence.

A Fundamental Plasma (FP) in another planetary or solar system, or another galaxy is different, but in the essential understanding, they behave in the same manner. What happens with this FP when it goes through a cycle of division, and creates and releases, what we call, "nuclear decay". How does this "nuclear decay" takes place? How does "nuclear decay" begin, that it reaches this point of division?

Nuclear decay begins by the interaction (or rubbing) of these fields inside the FP, and gradually their field strength becomes stronger and stronger. When these field forces that are building up, reach a certain point in respect to the internal field force of the original plasma, they react, and this reaction is a MaGrav positioning. When the field strength (of this new forming) plasma, in the line of interaction, reaches a force, that is equal or similar to the original PI, then it takes (a new) position. It shows itself, as the plasma has divided, what we call, nuclear decay.

A Fundamental Plasma, through the interaction of M fields within it, builds up forces until it reaches the point, that it goes through what you call, nuclear decay, or what in the T we call, division, or start of a new cycle. This is the way entities start as a plasma, whether you call it an electron, or the STM.

The Creator is also a Fundamental plasma, where through the attraction of its fields of itself, and going through a "decay," has created the Creator and Mitra, or the soul of the Creator, and the rest of the creation. The structure is the same, only we have chosen different names for the same process. We call it Fundamental Plasma, the original, or the Creator, it's all the same. The original, or the Creator by going through decay after decay, together with frequent developments and interactions of other fields, has led to the creation of many galaxies, universes and the rest. (In this process, you become one of the elements in this long cycle of creation). There is no difference between the FP and the Creator.

In Fundamental Plasma of a neutron, we know that the fields came from another process, from which it divided from. So the fundamental question to ask is, where did the fields which led to the creation of the Creator, or the plasma of the Creator come from?

We know that the Fundamental Plasma comes through the evolution, or division, or interaction of the fields of the Creator, and we see a step down process. The FP can also interact with each other, or together, or amalgamate themselves together to lead to creation of new cycles of life. We call it, a cell of the man, or the body of the man, or a tree.

(On a larger scale), the fields of the Creator can divide, and instead of becoming a man or a tree, become galaxies, universes, and the rest?

With this understanding we can go further in comprehending the process of creation. Now we understand where we came from, and what we were created out of, and how it is done. We can find a way to walk the path in the reverse way to the Creator. Or, we can become part of the Fundamental Plasma, which led to the creation of totality. (Can we reach the Creator by internally rubbing our own fields together? Is that then, contemplation of what life is? Do we really have all this power within us already??)

Still there is a huge question, where did the fields of the Creator come from? What led to the creation of this Unicose, this universe? How was it created? Or is the physicality of the man and the physicality of the universe, a mirage?

Because if we cannot find the essence, the origin of the fields, then there is no reality, to the functionality of the Creator, and the created. Where did the fields of the universe come from? Where did the fields of the Creator come from, that led to the creation of the Unicose, the universe, the man and the rest?

The question is very deep, and understanding it brings man to one point, that he is powerless to understand the totality of the creation, at this moment of time. No medication and no meditation, will bring man to understand this process and the structure of the creation.

However, fundamentally we know that once upon a time, the fields of the Gans's and the AA's, that we were made out of, and the other animals were made out of, were originally part of the fields of the Creator. Once upon a time, they were part of the process of the Fundamental Plasma.

Think about how much plasma and fields, that originally must have been part of the Creator's plasma, that even now, we still see the expansion of it. It is still dividing (even after billions of years). We still see the "nuclear decay" on a scale larger than an atom, by that we mean, the "nuclear decay" of universes.

In cosmology, the scientists refer to this in some of their papers and books, where they see fields in some parts of the universe, or collections of galaxies, which are rotating in the opposite direction to the environment. I referred to this, that most of these phenomenon are created by the interaction of the fields of the other universes, but some of them, are like those electrons (in an atom, that has gathered enough energy and is getting) ready to depart, (and create a new dimension).

From what our scientist observe and are telling us about these patches they see in our universe, how do you tell which one of them is caused by the interaction of other universes, and which ones are the new "electrons," that are getting ready to be propelled out of this universe, to start a new cycle somewhere else?

When this "electron" or new U reaches its destiny, or destination, and then what I call, "MaGrav positioning," in respect to the other universes, would it stay the same size? Or would it take in fields, that are moving free within the environment of the Unicose and expand itself to an even bigger U. In making itself bigger, it would become equal to the other universes, and it would be tolerated by them. And its M and G fields would become balanced in respect to the other universes.

In reality, man has just put a toe into the ocean of the knowledge of the creation. We still have to feel the warmth of it, and then we have to trust it enough to jump in. But that jump in, takes a lot of knowledge about how to survive in this ocean of the knowledge, and the reality of the creation and the Creator.

Have our scientists ever understood this process, and to what extent? Or they just look and say, "there are the galaxies and the stars," and "oh look, those galaxies just hit each other," or they see that the same star is in the same position for thousands of years. But do they ever ask the question, "where did this all come from?" What is this part of? (When did the fields, through their interactions and amalgamations, lead to the creation of the plasma of the Creator?)

If this is correct, which it has to be, because we see it in the image of the nuclear decay. Where did the fields of the Creator come from? Is there another dimension above?

Or do we forever go from one God, to the next God, to the next God, to the next God, and the gods, which is the father of the God, the father of the God, of the God. Then we are back in the same cycle.

But essentially, where did the first M fields, which led to the creation of the present universes and Unicose, come from? As I have always said, if we cannot understand it, and we cannot explain it, and we cannot physically, tangibly, lead our knowledge to understand it, then everything we have around us is nothing but a mirage and a façade.

Then it comes to the point, where did the field strength of the emotion, which led to the creation of the Creator come from? Or did the Creator, create the field interaction out of his own emotion?

In the Koran, blessed Mohammad says, He has 100 attributes, and that's only in the matter state, not the plasma state. The attributes of the Creator are incalculable, we cannot even talk about it. We just talk about what we understand emotionally, in the dimension of the fields of the matter state of this planet.

Then it comes, that if with our knowledge and understanding, we could find the fields of emotion of the Creator, would we be able to interact with it? Could that emotion transfer our connection? Even the field emotions of the Creator have a strength, otherwise it cannot interact. It has to have a dimension, to be there, to effect and interact with its existence. In the new processes can we come to understand this? Can we come to understand the totality of the motion in the universe?

Many of you will be shocked when you will see the flight Enhancement Units (FEU), and how the process of flight is through the interaction with the STM. It's a technology, that has been hidden from man, its never been seen at all. It's understanding the process of the creation, through the soul of the system. The system being an aircraft, a FEU, the Creator, or another person.

The new flight system, which will be unveiled in a very short time, you will see something that has never been seen before. It's never been comprehended, that man can reach this level of understanding, that he does not even need to move his physical body, where he can transmute his soul, and manifest himself (in another position). He can even manifest himself within the soul of the Creator. If the man understands the strength of the transmutation and transportation of the fields of the universe (U).

In the new Enhancement Unit for flight, when you walk into it, you'll be baffled, because you'll be walking within the fields of the universe. You will enter with the understanding of the conditions that created the universe. And if your soul finds its strength within the strength of the system, it'll find its position in the fields of the universe. (Does this mean we might become a star?)

It will be one of the most amazing flight systems man has ever seen. And its simplicity will baffle the scientists for centuries to come. It took man years to create submarines so he could travel in the depths of the oceans, to be able to move like a fish. Now we have brought man the knowledge of the "submarine" floating within the fields of the universe.

Man will have the ability to reach the strength of the fields of the emotion of the Creator, if man decides to be as pure as the Creator - detached. If man decides to be detached, where the physicality and wealth of this planet have no meaning. Where the wealth of the knowledge of the universe and understanding the process of the creation, is sacrosanct.

Then, you become like the fields within the circle, within the embodiment of the fields of the Creator. One day when your strength reaches the strength, in the power of time, you'll become another U, another attribute embedded with the fields of the Creator.

Is the Creator within me? Or am I within the Creator?

The motion of the fields of the cell of the man, the AA of the body of the man, is another connection in the line of the Totality of the existence. We are still in that process of being created as a cell, and then to go further on, to create a new dimension.

If this process exists, that we go from the soul of the Creator to the creation of the Unicose, then there must be an environment that the Unicose is born into. Then the question is, what is this environment? Then the Creator, that we all meet and pray to, and who we think of as omnipotent, is itself a part of another structure.

You cannot blow up a balloon in a room, if there is no room for the balloon to expand into. They tell us our universe is expanding at 1 million kilometers per hour. So there must be space available for it to expand into. But where and what is that space? What is the limitation of man's understanding in respect to the present knowledge of humanity?

Would Man loose himself, when he reaches to that level of understanding? Or would man become satisfied and matured, once he understands this knowledge. That all the wealth on this planet is worth nothing, when compared to the fraction of man's knowledge of the Creator and creation.

You need to understand more about what happens when you work with the Gans Boxes. When you make a Gans, you're still in the dimension of the field strength of this planet. What about when you put the Gans in a vacuum?

In the near future, many of you will come to the Keshe Foundation Institutes, and you will see what happens when you put your Gans's in a vacuum. It's the only way you will see the reality of the interaction of the fields. You will take one Gans and change the environment of it, and see it appear as the size of a football, then you'll be able to see its interactions.

If any of you have worked as much as I've done in the laboratory, where we work at -11, -12 in a vacuum condition, you would have seen the beauty of the creation. You would see how the creation takes shape within the vacuum chambers. After we shut the reactors they start releasing energies. We would see this in the tests we did in Bruges, Belgium with special space vacuum systems made in Ukraine. When we shut everything down, then the fields would start to play.

Several times we could not control these fields, and they went through the channels of the fields of the man, and they burned out the system, after we had left the lab. It's what I call, fields transportation, transmutation, where the fields cannot find a space, and so they start traveling. The matter state of the man is no limitation for them.

Can we become part of that field which is released? Can we become part of the non-tangible fields and travel (with it, through) the embodiment of the body of the Man, or within the environment? Our people saw the same thing during the production of the new FEU. Some time later after they switched the system was shut off, and with no electric connection, there was a merger of the plasma fields with the circuit boards and they were melted. It's because the fields are still in existence.

It's like this when the body goes to sleep, the soul and the fields are still active. Everything still goes on, and you call it a dream. How can we use these positions? Or do we learn from them, that in the future we can switch off the physicality, and we let the fields of the STM and the body, and the cells to take what I call, the "freefall." Take the path, that is allowed by the strength it's gathered, to find its position.

Isn't this what happens to us when we die? But now, through understanding the system, we do not need to die. We can enjoy the emotion of these fields within the system. Whether it be interaction with the mother, dog, or feeling how the furniture feels when I jump on it. Everything has an emotion, everything has a feeling, because it's made of the dynamic fields.

In the science of creation, everything goes back to the Fundamental Plasma, whether it's a neutron in an atom, a proton in an atom, or an electron within an atom.

I always objected to the scientists speaking about nuclear decay in the present nuclear technology. In fact, it's not only the neutron, but also the proton and electron decays. The word decay, in our science really means when the fields inside (the atom) builds another dimension (or plasma) within (that atom), and then not being able to hold on to (the fields), they go through this process (of "decay," but really it's a transmutation). Our nuclear physicists have always made what they call, neutron decay as a limitation. But didn't the proton come from the neutron. And it has the same attributes, properties, expansion and extension of the fields and interactions, as the neutron.

When our scientists understand the process of the proton and electron decay, then we'll move more in understanding the creation. Then they will understand, that when an atom goes through a division, it's not only, that the one neutron has changed, or the neutrons repositioned themselves, we have to see which electrons have changed as well, or which protons have also changed or (gained in strength). Just because you count the numbers of neutrons, protons, and electrons, does not mean it's actually the same neutron, proton, or electron. (They could have gone through a transmutation of energy).

All these processes of "nuclear decay," (or should we say the process of decay of the Fundamental Plasma, and the fundamental elements of the Universe, goes back to the original fields of the Creator).

As a nuclear physicist, this misunderstanding, and misuse of these words, that only a neutron decays, has bothered me for decades. But you cannot speak about it with the scientists, because they don't understand it. Even our own nuclear physicists cannot understand it, because they have never been taught (another way). They could never comprehend, that what is good for the goose, is also good for the gander. If one can eat grass, the other one can eat the same grass.

This is the part of the knowledge that you, as Knowledge Seekers (KS) now have to interact with and understand to be able to go to the next step of the fundamental process of the creation of the elements, movement of the fields, energy transmutation, and transportation and transmutation in energy, or matter state, and the field states, which is part of the universal process of creation.

End part 1

Is what we see a mirage (:49:08 to :51:04).

There is one fundamental question for all of us, is what we see a mirage, that through the conversion of the information in our eyes, becomes the mother. If we can make that in the dimension of the sleep, how come we have not been able to do it during the awake time.

Then, is there a reality to the dimension of the physicality of existence? Or is it always a mirage? Or with the new technology, with the new understanding, we create a condition to be able to travel between the two. Would the release of the new FEU create a big dilemma for the space scientists, scientists of cosmology, and the scientists of what I call, theology? And how will they work with it?

Many of you will walk into the FEU and say it doesn't work. And many of you will walk in and will have a lot to tell. Then who do we (believe) and understand what they are saying? And which one of you is not ready and has not understood, so you cannot reach that point of interaction? The new FEU is one of the simplest, but more comprehensive ways to teach man the first step about the motion, interaction, and transmutation within the fields of the U.

Fields that led to Creator - still dividing after billions of years (1:05:42 to 1:07:01)

The book is the same, the understanding is the same, but the interpretation comes by ones level of knowledge. And the process is the same in all levels of the creation. But there's one point of mystery, which man cannot understand at this moment in time, he's not yet mature enough to understand. That is, where did the fields, that led to the creation of the Creator come from? And why are they so powerful, that still after billions of years of splitting, they still can create man, and still carry on creating new dimensions. How much strength, and how compact are the fields of the Creator, that in what I call, division and separation across the universe, still have a long way to go, to fill the full space given to them by the Unicose, to grow into the dimension of its existence.

Then it comes to another point of understanding, who made that limitation of the room of our Unicose?

Put AA in vacuum and get Cell of the Man (:11:40 to :43:28)

K- Yes. Thank you very much for playing that intro. And I'm sure a lot of us have seen a lot of these pictures many times, we read the books, we read the papers, we made the Gans's, but how far do we know? What do we know? And how much have we thought about this, (:12). or it's just what appears on the screen, or page. When you look at the one of these pictures, it comes down, that even an amino acid (AA) is a plasma (PI). So all of us in the Keshe Foundation (KF), the way we look at our amino acid is something oily, flat on top of the Gans's, we make.

But hat happens if we turn this plasma, into a vacuum condition? How would the amino acid, then look as a plasma, is it truly 3 dimensional. Then when you look at it, then, if you can turn again the amino acid of the CuO, ZnO, CO₂, CH₃, or other materials which you make, put them in a vacuum condition. Appropriate for it to take its optimum shape, and what we call, emotion, what would we get? For sure, we get the shape of a cell of a man. For sure for the first time we will see that structure.

When who work in a correct vacuum condition as the body of the man, you see things in a different way, things behave different way. And then we can see how, we can replication of the man by the fields, by the plasma of it. Then by the essence of the center of it what we call, (:14). the operation center of the amino acid, or what we call, the soul of it.

But there is one thing more fundamental than all this, when we put it in 3 dimension. In a way, that cell as an interactive entity, is a fundamental plasma, is a neutron, is the beginning of a cycle for another cycle.

In the books, and in all the teaching, we continuously speak about fundamental plasma, which is by its nature, the initial, the beginning, the what we call, the what we see in the outset of the work, of what we call, movement, motion, of what we see as M fields, in different direction, in different strength, in different sizes. But in totality, as they have one common denominator in the center, they behave, they are connected to, and they interact with each other.

You only can bring plasma together, when you have common denominator base function, in respect to the environment, which they exist. One Plasma might not exist on Earth, but that fundamental PI exists on the moon, which we are not aware of, we don't have awareness of it, we don't have education of it, we haven't been there.

A fundamental PI on another planetary system, another solar system, another galaxy is different, but an essential understanding, they behave in the same manner. What has happened with this fundamental PI? We talk about division of it, (:16). when the fundamental plasma goes through a cycle of division, and creates and releases, what we call, nuclear decay. How does this nuclear decay takes place? How does this nuclear decay starts, that it reaches this point?

This nuclear decay is caused by the interaction of these fields inside, and become gradually stronger, that its internal central field force, in respect to the internal field force of the original plasma has to show a reaction, MaGrav positioning. And what it does, when the field strength in this plasma reaches in force, equal, or in line of interaction, similar to the original, then it takes its position. In taking position, it shows as the plasma has divided, what we call, nucleus decay.

So, in a way, electron, you call it, the Soul of Man you call it, or the start of the creation of any entity, as a plasma starts this way. You call this fundamental plasma, where by strength interaction of the fields within it, has, goes through a nuclear decay. But what is the other understanding of this technology, this plasma? You call this one nuclear decay.

Fundamental Plasma - the Creator

You have another fundamental plasma, we call it, the Creator. Where through the attraction of its fields, (:18). through interaction of the fields of itself. Going through a decay has created the Creator and Mitra, or the soul of the Creator, and the rest of the creation.

But still, within this structure carries the same. We have chosen different names for the same process, fundamental plasma, the original, the Creator, is the same. The original, where through decays, and decays, of frequent developments, and interactions of other fields, has led to creation of many galaxies, universes and the rest. Where in this process, you become another elements as we know in the cycle of the knowledge of man.

So, when we talk about the fundamental plasma, and we talk about the Creator, there can be no difference. But the fundamental question to ask, in fundamental plasma of neutron, we guess, we know what fields could be there, and how they came, because they came from another process.

What about the fields, which led to the creation of the Creator which led to creation of the plasma of the Creator, that in its division (audio dropped) .. this forces, lead to this. (R: Sorry, Mr. Keshe, we missed about the last sentence. K- I can't ?? remember)

K- We know that the fundamental plasma comes through what we call, the evolution, division, interaction of the fields of the Creator. (:20). So we see step down process. We see interaction of the fundamental plasmas, in with each other, or together, or amalgamating together leads to creation of new cycles of life. We call it, a cell of the man, we call it the body of the man, we call it a tree. So, what happened to the division of the fields of the Creator, which instead of the man or the tree, became galaxies, became universes, and the rest.

Now, we understand, now we can go a step further, to be able to comprehend the process of creation. To understand what, and how, and where we came, what we were created out of. And in a way to find, comprehend, to walk the path, the reverse way to the Creator. Or, in a way, become part of the fundamental plasma, which led to the creation of totality.

But there is a huge question. Where did the fields of the Creator come from? What led to the creation of this Unicose, this universe? How was it created? Or is it the physicality of the man, the physicality of the universe, a mirage? Because if we cannot find the essence, the origin of the fields, we have no reality to the functionality of the Creator, and the created. (:22). Where did the fields of the universe come from? Where did the fields of the Creator came from, that led to the creation of the Unicose, the universe, the man and the rest?

The question is very deep, but understanding of it brings man to one point. The powerlessness to understand the totality of the creation, at this moment of time. No medication and no meditation will bring man to understand the process, the structure of the creation.

But fundamentally, the fields of the Gans's, of the amino acids, of us. The other animals, once upon a time, was part of the fields of the Creator. Once upon a time, was part of the process of what we call, Fundamental Plasma. But how much plasma, how much fields was within that original creation and the Creators plasma, that now we still see the expansion of it, we still see the division of it, we still see the nuclear decay in a larger scale, than an atom, what we call, nuclear decay of the universe, nuclear decay of the plasma.

In cosmology, we have seen this, if you look at, and in some of the papers and book, I referred to this, (:24). that, in some parts of the universe, cosmology sees fields, collection of galaxies, which are rotating in the opposite direction to the environment. And most of these are created by the interaction of the fields of the other universes, but some of these are those electrons, which are ready to depart.

So, even we live in this universe, and what are scientists observe, what our scientists tell us, we see these patches. Which one of them indicates the interaction with another universe, and which one of them will indicate, this is the new electron, the new universe to be propelled out of this universe, to start a new cycle.

But when this U reaches its destiny, or destination, or what I call MaGrav positioning, in respect to the other universes, would it stay the same size, or when take fields, what is free within the environment of the Unicose and expand itself to bigger U, that it can be equal, and it can be tolerated, and could be balanced M and G, in respect to the other universes.

In reality, man has just put a toe into the ocean of the knowledge of the creation. We still got to feel the warmth of it, and then we have to trust it, and then jump in it, and that jump in takes a lot of knowledge. How to survive in this ocean of the knowledge, and the reality of the creation and the Creator. (:26).

To what extent our scientists have ever understood this process? We just look at galaxies, we look at stars, they are there, they hit each other, they are in that position, we see the same star in the same position for thousands of years. But where did this all came from? Where did this came to be part of? When the fields, which the interaction, and what I call, amalgamation led to the creation of the plasma of the Creator.

And if this is correct, which it has to be, because we see it in the image of the nuclear decay. When it comes, where did the fields of the Creator, came from? Is there another dimension above? Or forever we go to God, to God, to God, to God, and the gods, which is the father of the God, the father of the God, of the father. Then we are back in the same cycle.

But essentially, when did the first M fields, which led to the creation of the present universes and Unicose, came from? (:28). As I have always said, if we cannot understand it, and we cannot explain it, and we cannot physically, tangibly, lead our knowledge to understand it, then everything we have around us is nothing but a mirage and a façade.

And then it comes to the point, was it the fields of the strength of the emotion, which led to the creation of the Creator, or did the Creator have as field interaction created his own emotion? In the Koran, blessed Mohammad says, He has 100 attributes, and that's only in the matter state, not in the plasma state. The attributes of the Creator is incalculable, we cannot even talk about it. We just talk about what we understand emotionally, in the dimension of the fields of the matter state of this planet.

Then it comes, that if with our knowledge, that if with our understanding, we could find the fields of emotion of the Creator, would we be able to interact with it, that emotion transfers our connection? Even the field emotions of the Creator has a strength, otherwise it cannot interact. It's an effect of its, (:30). existence, and to be there, to interact, it has to have a dimension (D). Then can we in the new processes come to understand this? Can we in these processes, go through the condition of understanding the totality of the motion in the universe?

Many of you will be shocked when you will see the flight enhancement units (FEU) process of flight and interaction with the Soul of the Man (STM). (It's) never been seen at all. It's a technology, which has been hidden from man. It's understanding the process of the creation through the soul of the system, system be it the aircraft, be it the flight system, be it the Creator, be it another person.

The new flight system, which you will see, will be unveiled in a very short time, you will see something is never been seen before, never been comprehended, that man can reach this level of understanding, that he does not even need to move his physical body, where he can transmute his soul, and manifest himself, himself even within the soul of the Creator. If the man understands the strength of the transmutation and transportation of the fields of universe (U).

In the new Enhancement Unit for flight, you will be baffled when you walk in. You'll walk in within the fields of the universe, you will walk in with the understanding of the creation of the condition of the universe, then, if your soul finds its strength within the strength of the system, (:32). it'll find its position in the fields of the universe.

They'll be one of the most amazing flight systems men has ever seen. And its simplicity will baffle the scientists for centuries to come. You got to understand, to be able to travel, within the oceans of this planet, you need, it took man years to create submarines, to be able to hide, and be inside the cocoon, we call it the submarine, to be able to move like a fish.

Now we have brought the knowledge of the "submarine" floating within the fields of the universe. Having the ability to reach the strength of the fields of the emotion of the Creator, if man decides to be as pure as the Creator, detached. Where physicality and the wealth of this planet has no meaning. Where the wealth of the knowledge of the universe, where the wealth of understanding the process of the creation, is sacrosanct.

Then, you become that circle, then you become that fields within embodiment of the field of the Creator. And one day when your strength reaches the strength in power of time, you'll become another U, another attribute embedded with the fields of the Creator.

Then the question comes, is the Creator within me? Or am I within the Creator? (:34). The motion of the fields of the cell of the man, the amino acid (AA) of the body of the man, is another connection in line of the Totality of the existence of the complete ??. And we're still in that process of being created as a cell, to further on, to create a new dimension. And then for that, again to become part of the new D.

Then as I've said many times, if this process exists, that we go from the soul of the Creator, to creation of the Unicoise, then there must be an environment, that this Unicoise is born into. Then the question is, what is this? Where we as a creator, meeting, and we pray to, and be seen as the omnipotent, itself, is part of another structure.

You cannot blow a balloon in a room, if the balloon has no room to grow. The universe as we see, cannot expand with 1 million kilometers an hour, if the room for it to expand doesn't exist, but where is that room? What is that room? What is the limitation of the understanding of the man, in respect to the present knowledge of humanity.

Would Man lose himself, when he reaches to that level of understanding, or would man become satisfied and matured, once (he) understands this understanding. All the wealth on this planet worth nothing, compared to the fraction of the knowledge of the Creator and creation, from man's understanding. (:36).

AA Gans put in vacuum

Then you need to understand more about what you do in these Gans Boxes. You just made a Gans, you're still in the dimension of the what we call, field strength of this planet. What about when you put this Gans in a vacuum. In the near future, many of you in the Institutes of Keshe Foundation will do this, because it's the only way you will see the reality of the interaction of the fields. Where we can take one Gans, and change the environment of it, and see it the size of a football, then see the interactions with it.

If any of you have worked as much as I've done, and many of you in the laboratories, where we work at minus 11, minus 12 in a vacuum condition, you see the beauty of the creation. You see how things take shape. You see creation within the vacuum chambers. We see the energy they release after we shut down, after when they ?? release. When we did these tests in Bruges, in Belgium, in the Ukrainian made, special space vacuum systems. When we shut down our reactors, when we shut down everything, then the fields used to play. Then we several times, could not control these fields, and they went through the channels of the fields of the man, and they burned the system (out) after we left. What I call fields transportation, transmutation, where they cannot find a space and they travel, because there is no limitation with a matter of state of the man (matter cannot block the fields). (:38).

Then, can we become part of that field? Then, can we become part of that, what we call, non-tangible fields, and travel the embodiment of the body of the Man, or within the environment. In the production of the new systems for flight, again, in the lab, in production, our people saw the same thing, after they switched the system off, time later, the merger of the plasma fields, with no electric connection, has melted the boards, because the fields are still in existence.

The body goes to sleep, but the soul, and the fields are still active. The same as when you go to sleep, but everything still goes on, and you call it a dream. How can we use these positions? Or do we learn from them, that in the future? We switch off the physicality, and we let the fields of the Soul of Man, the body of the man, the cell of the man to take, what I call the freefall. Take the path, that is allowed by the strength it's gathered, to find its position.

Isn't this what happened to us when we die? But now, through understanding of the system, we do not need to die. But we can be day to enjoy the fields of emotion of these fields within the system. Be it interaction with the mother, the dog, or feeling how the furniture feels when I jump on it. Everything has an emotion, everything has a feeling, because it's made of the dynamic fields. (:40).

Now, the science of creation goes back to the Fundamental Plasma, be it a neutron in a atom, be it a proton in atom, be it an electron within an atom.

Nuclear Decay - really a conversion Proton Electron Decay

In the present nuclear technology, which I always objected to the nuclear scientists, we always speak about nuclear decay. But in fact, we have proton decay, we have electron decay, which means when the fields inside builds another dimension within them, and then not holding, they go through the process. Our nuclear physicists always have made this limitation, that a neutron decays. God forbid. A proton came from the neutron, has the same attributes, has the same properties, has the same expansion and extension on the fields and interaction.

When our scientists come to understand the process of the proton decay, electron decay, then we will move more in understanding the dimension of the creation. Then, we understand, that when we go through a division of an atom, it's not only, that the one neutron changed, or neutrons repositioned themselves, we have to see which electrons have changed as well, which protons have changed again, ?? gained ?? Just because we see the numbers, does not mean it's the same proton, doesn't mean it's the same electron, it doesn't mean same neutron. (:42).

Then if we understand this process, we go back to the fundamental process of the decay, fundamental decay, and the fundamental elements of the universe, which goes back to the process of the division of the fields of the Creator.

As a nuclear physicist, this misunderstanding, this words of only neutron decay, has bothered me for decades, but you cannot speak about it, because they don't understand it. Even our own nuclear physicists, cannot, never been taught, could never comprehend, what is good for a goose, is good for a gander too. If it is good for the goose, it's the same thing as for the gander. If it can eat the same grass, it does the same thing in the body as the other.

This is the part of the knowledge that you as Knowledge Seekers (KS) now have to react, interact, understand to be able to go to the next step of the fundamental process of the creation of the elements, movement of the fields, energy transmutation, and transportation and transmutation in energy, or matter state, and the field states, which is part of the universal process of creation. Is what we see a mirage (:49:08 to :51:04).

Then it brings one fundamental question to all of us. Is what we see a mirage, that through the conversion of the information in our eyes, become a mother. If we can make that in the dimension of the sleep, how come we have not made it in the D of what we call, awake-ness?

Then is the reality to the dimension, of the physicality of existence? Or is it always a mirage? Or with the new technology, with the new understanding, we create a condition to be able to travel between the two. (:50). The space scientists, the scientists of cosmology, and the scientists of what I call, theology, would release of the new enhancement flight system, will have a big dilemma, how to work it.

Many of you walk in and you say, it doesn't work. And many of you walk in and you tell a lot. And then who do we understand, and who do we comprehend in about the talk, and who, which one of you is not ready, has not understood, so cannot reach that point of interaction. The new enhancement units for flight is one of the simplest, but more comprehensive ways to teach man the first step about the motion, about interaction, about transmutation within the fields of the U. (:51:04).

Fields that led to Creator - still dividing after billions years (1:05:42 to 1:07:01)

Interpretation comes by knowledge, but the book is the same, and the understanding is the same, and the process is the same in all levels of the creation. But there's one point of mystery, which man cannot understand at this moment, (1:06). and he's not mature enough to understand. As I said, where did the fields came, that it led to the creation of the Creator, and it's so powerful that it can split, after billions of years, still create man and still carry on creating new dimensions. How strength, and compact are the fields of the Creator, that in what I call, division and separation across the universe, still have a long way to go, to fill the full space given to them by the Unicose, to grow into the dimension of its existence. Then who made that limitation of the room of our Unicose? Then that comes to another point of understanding of it. (1:07:01)
