

Inertia Lesson #3 - Emotions
STM controls Life - One Nation 80% ready - Chakras
Introduction to 482 KSW

Note: Not checked by KF interpretation by KS of KF Brazil

This week the teaching on Inertia and Gravity went still further, this time a little into the emotions. This series of teaching started in the Introduction to the 480 KSW, so let's keep going with it and see where it will take us.

Inertia - Gravity - Mass - Weight -- Emotions: Lesson #3

Mr. Keshe answered a question about how emotion is related to Inertia in a way to put us to think deeper about what we understood. He said, the answer is in the question - if you understand it. The question was put specifically to confirm what we have already learned, that both Inertia and Gravity are MaGravs and they are different. That the Gravity is related to plasma or Mass, and Inertia to Weight or matter. This is why the little stick and the huge rock fall equally to the Earth, even though we think the rock should fall faster. It's because the plasma of the rock is only effected by the plasma of Gravity. The next time you are outside pick up a rock and a stick and drop them, this will give you an immediate proof of the teachings.

Then he strongly added new information, that it's impossible to have emotions without the Soul of the Physicality (STP). Remember also that the Soul of the Man (STM) and the STP interact to create emotions in the physical dimension (D). We have to put together all these little bits of information. A Knowledge Seeker (KS) shared his experience about feeling the subtle point when the emotion switches from STP to STM and that the physicality (P) tries to hijack it, and take it over. So we have to understand how the emotion occurs in 2 parts, the STM & STP.

Mr. Keshe referred to the brain as nothing but "potholes" of fields and plasmas. A pothole is a hole in the asphalt of the street. When you look at a brain you see all these little twists and turns like a worm. Could those pockets in the little turns be places where plasmas forms? And could these be centers of emotions?

He referred to emotions as like isotopes for example, C has C12 & C14, and they occur in opposite pairs, one being M and the other G. Could emotions come from the same plasma? It's not clear by the description. He said, they have a common denominator, but then used 2 different elements in his example. He said, C could be on one side and Mg on the other side. So joy would be like a M field and sadness a G field. But we also know that they occur in the same location in the brain, could they be coming from a pothole in the cholesterol? He also said, that if we add field strength from our Soul, then we can increase the sadness into joy. If we can now put emotions into robots, then maybe they have a physical dimension to their plasmas and M & G fields? And maybe they will have to make little potholes on the microchips to form the plasmas of emotions, like copying the structure of the brain. But it still has to connect to intelligence of the soul in some way.

How do we tie this into Inertia. He said, the answer is in the question. Inertia is a MaGrav, and emotion is also a MaGrav. I don't know, we have to go further. First of all, most probably, we are not aware of our STP and we still don't know how emotions are created, let alone being able to control them. We know that through detachment we can have some control over emotions. We have to contemplate more on this to open up the discussion.

A second question about Gravity was asked and this opened up things further. Mr. Keshe referred to emotions as being created the same way the Gravity of the planet is created. He said, when the G field strength is stronger than M, central field forces of a higher order are created and absorb the lower order or weaker strength fields. This is how cancer is created in the body. He is now using the word "higher order," and it absorbs the lower order. But doesn't the higher strength give to the lower strength? He must be talking about another level of knowledge here. The higher order absorbs the lower order and creates Mass. In other words, M & G fields are interacting and creating Mass or plasmas, or entities. And further interactions lead to creation of weight, which is another way to say, matter. Then the M fields interact and come to balance and create an atmosphere. The atmosphere is the Coulomb's barrier of an entity, and for humans we have the skin to define ourselves in P as an entity. This is as far as I can go with this.

We are getting closer and closer to understanding the Totality of the Knowledge of Creation, and how all life is created in the U. But we have to dive deep enough into this one pattern to fully understand it, because we keep coming back to it time and time again. If we look into the environment we'll start to see that this pattern is occurring everywhere. This is what we do in our Gans boxes and how the Material Systems work. Somehow the Nano materials create higher order fields that start to absorb the lower order, and create the Gans, which is again Mass, or "number of plasmas." It is not yet weight, it still needs further interactions. But how is the AA or fat attracted to the top of the saltwater? There are enough combinations and interactions of plasmas in the AA to create biological life. And this week he said, KF created a plasma "Ball" that can create anything we can imagine. He talked about this years ago, but now they have produced it. It must be based on this same basic pattern of Creation that we are trying to understand. Hopefully, we are keeping this summary's simple enough that everybody can follow, but you still have to lovingly take the time to be with it and open the emotion of knowledge.

This leads into the next topic that we have the power to create within us, because we are created out of what created us. The example, of the mother being the creator of the child, who was herself a child. We have to adjust our thinking, because in the physical D of Earth only the mother can create, but in the plasma D all of us can create. It's reaching maturity and understanding ourselves as the energy of a plasma. How did I go from a baby to what I am now without me knowing it? Those who know, we call enlightened.

Actually the main teaching of today was about us, not knowing ourselves, or thinking we are in control of things, when really the STM is in control and making arrangements with other Souls for us to balance the fields. In a way, it's like what people call "Karma" or "what you sow, you reap." But in this case we are also responsible for what our parents and ancestors have done in the past, and we have to balance it. Scientifically there is much more to it, then just saying, "it's your karma". In fact, that really doesn't help much and it reinforces a victim mentality. But if we understand that ignorance is that force that is pulling us through life, then we have a chance to learn and grow by our experiences. It's ignorance of knowing our Soul and the Knowledge of Creation, and how we are created. Ignorance that we don't know that we are created from the fields of the Creator, and thus part of Creation. To make it worse, our society has trained our egos to really believe that when we do bad things, somehow we can get away with it. The lack of experiencing true love is also behind this bondage of being forced to repeat the same stupid things over and over again. Lessons never learned. When we look back at our life we can see how we keep repeating the same things. If we look even further we can see that, there were times that no matter how hard we tried to avoid something, in the end we still had to experience it. And if we finally learned the lesson, then we didn't need those experiences anymore.

Now we understand that the Soul is in charge and wants what is best for us, even if we don't know it. And when the STP comes into balance with the STM, and we stop resisting the truth of life, then we change. We become aware of the STM through our emotions. There is no method to use to teach us about the Soul, it comes from within and by experience. When we realize the world cannot give us what we thought it could, and somehow the love touches our heart, and all of our focus goes towards finding the Soul, then it slowly unfolds itself. And now we have lots of help to take this journey.

So where are we at with the release of the technology? Mr. Keshe went over all the things that he has been setting up over the past 20 years the food, health, energy, travel, financial system with the Keshe Coin, Insurance policies that actually help you, and governing the planet through One Nation by the Universal Council and the Earth Council. The whole thing is about 60% done and another 20% in the next few months makes it 80% complete. The last 20% will be completed over the next 5 to 10 years. He said, he has been planning this for centuries and the last pieces are getting put together. But the acceptance of it by humans comes from our participation as KS. If you have been wondering why all these years he never shows anything, this is why. (Actually, the T is being shown, but we have to learn how to see it). If something is shown now prematurely, it could cause a reaction from the powers and a delay. Not only that, but the true change is coming through the Soul, and that's why this will succeed. Because what we learned today is, that the Soul is in charge.

Finally, in today's teaching he talked about how the Chakras pretty much line up as being energy centers of the organs. The Chakras are in the front of the body and spinal column acts as a counterbalance to them. The new Pain Pads are setup in a 2:1 ratio to move the energy from the back to the front and out.

Additional Topics:

Can't stop desert moving east - abandon Beijing in couple centuries;

A bath in Iran lit by 1 candle - subliminal methane - but you cannot see it;

"Holy Fire" in Jerusalem Easter Sunday understood as created by conditions;

Rare disease phosphorus & sulphur convert to Ca through Thymus & Thalamus - deposit Ca in leg arteries have to amputate or heart tissue tears apart - technology can reverse - 1 case of amputated toes re-grown;

Thank you for listening.
