

Matter & Energy both Plasma - Neutron Divides into P & E Adam - Purpose of Sanya - Gaza/Ukraine Introduction to 529 KSW

Note: Not checked by KF interpretation by KS of KF Brazil

The knowledge given today was to prepare Knowledge Seekers (KS) to understand what they will be receiving in the Sanya Conference in China which happened over the weekend. This Conference was a unique opportunity to be in an environment where the fields were being generated by a technology (T) that uses Cosmic Rays (CR) and is directly linked to the Creator. The first important thing to know is that the plasma manifests itself both as matter and energy state. In other words, the same fields that become our body and we recognize as ourselves, and the objects in our environment, can return back to energy and behave as a plasma, simply by changing the conditions of the environment. The example he gave was like what happens to a drop of water in a room when we change the conditions and raise the temperature? It becomes steam, and if we lower the temperature enough it will become ice. It's the same H₂O but manifests differently under different environmental conditions. This is such a simple concept, that we may ask why don't our scientists understand this. Or is it that they don't want to? You may be asking yourself, what's the 'big deal' about this? The 'big deal' is that the scientific dogma is setup one-sided. It says, that only matter state exists, and what we call 'energy' or 'plasma' does not exist, and then to protect themselves they claim that it is a religious concept. Mr. Keshe is constantly running up against this problem, where the top scientists, especially in China refuse to accept the Universal Knowledge of Plasma, because Einstein and others said, that it doesn't exist and the fallacy of $E=MC^2$ is true. Recently, the authorities released a paper by Tesla that was banned for something like 120 years. In this paper he did not accept Einstein's theory.

So what's the difference between the 'energy' Mr. Keshe talks about, and what so called, scientists talk about. They measure stored energy in the matter state only as a 'Potential Difference' between one position and another. We'll just keep it simplified. So an object that moves has potential energy stored in it that can be converted to other types of energy. They measure this energy only in relation to its movement. And they do recognize magnetic, gravitational, electric and elastic energies. So the knowledge is really the same, but they have limited their interpretation only to the matter state. The same goes for when we burn coal or gas they can measure how many Joules is released. In Plasma Science we approach it from a different way, and we say energy is M fields in motion, but it's not limited to an object moving from A to B. The knowledge of Energy is fundamental to Creation and the Creator, and how Creation unfolds itself. We are just starting to learn about the different energies, for example the energy in our emotions and thoughts. And that all plasmas are connected to the Creator and there is energy in that and many other ways plasmas interact with each other like when plasmas are inside of each other. It's important for KS to understand that the knowledge is far beyond moving an object from

A to B, or burning something to access its energy. A good example of this is that we don't really use the energy in nuclear materials. Instead we use it to boil water and kill others through bombs. Many times Mr. Keshe brought our attention to the stupidity of our scientists and when we remain ignorant then they can control and abuse us. Plasma energy is always balancing itself between plasmas, whereas as with matter state energy you use it up and have to always find a new source.

He summarized about the light and that it is really M fields and when it's singular it's a ray that only travels in a straight line and is connected to the Creator. And when it's seen as a particle or a photon, then it's a plasma and has M and G fields that are influenced by other MG fields such as a star it might be passing and that causes it to bend. The bending is due to MG field positioning of the 2 different plasmas. And you can bend the light 90 and even 180 degrees if you now how to use other plasmas to do it.

In school we all learned that the neutron splits into a proton and an electron and we call it an atom. Now they say a neutron can last about 15 minutes on its own before it splits. These are terms they use, and then they say, that this is the matter state of our universe (U). But what does all this mean to us? Mr. Keshe gave us the opportunity to go deep into the experience of what a neutron really is during the Sanya conference. A couple days before he told us that a neutron actually is a plasma. This was a huge realization. We were being taught Plasma Science all the time, but we didn't know it, and we didn't know how to unlock the secret to it. Our scientists told us that inside a neutron are 'Up Quarks' and 'Down Quarks' but these are just words they made up to describe the energy of the M and G fields of a plasma. Then Mr. Keshe said, a neutron divides into 2 plasmas, a proton and an electron and then we call it a hydrogen (H) atom. So wait a minute! Normally they say that a nucleus of an atom contains neutrons, protons, and electrons spinning around them. The fundamental plasma of matter state is the H atom, but where is the neutron? In Plasma Science the H plasma field strength is the building block of Creation. Then they start this funny way of accounting for neutrons from what they observed. They go to Deuterium which has 1 neutron, P & E, and then to Tritium which has 2 neutrons P & E. And then the second atom in the Periodic Table He has 2 N, 2 P and 2 E. But then the 3rd element Li has 4 N, 3 P, and 3E. And they cannot explain what this means because they have not accepted that plasma exists, nor how the U works through plasma. We cannot see these atoms and protons and things with our eyes. We only see the resulting matter state, and then we go backwards to make up a theory about it. The only way all this can make sense is if you accept that both Matter and Plasma states exist together and that there is a way to understand them and work with them to create our own world. The scientists are already brainwashed with a very narrow view of matter state concepts and even if you show them the plasma they refuse to believe it. This is why Mr. Keshe stressed that we have to teach our children right from the start of their education to understand that what they are experiencing through their body is the matter state plasma due to the Inertia field strength of this planet. And that this same state when we change the MG fields of its environment will manifest as energy, and that we exist both as matter and energy. With this knowledge we'll be able to understand our own existence and interact with the rest of the U.

Now back to the Sanya Conference. He said the whole purpose of Sanya was for us to feel the fields of our energy directly. It's exactly like what he tried to do by introducing the MaGrav, which was for us to feel the fields coming out of the top of the system, but instead we plugged in the bottom to try to save money on electricity. This time he increased the field strength to the level of the Creator, and created an environment for us to walk in, so that nobody would be left out. Everybody was equally showered with the Love of the Creator, but still it is up to us to open up to it. So all the conditions were set for us to experience our Soul directly, which is also linked to the Creator. But what do we do with the experience of the energy? Do we just 'get high' on the fields for awhile, and then say, 'oh, wow, what a great trip we had.' Or do we use that same energy to focus it on opening up to the Knowledge of Creation, which is done through our intention and feelings? This is why I think he told us that the neutron is a plasma and it divides into 2 plasmas of the proton and electron and becomes what we call an atom, or 'Adam.' If in the silence of the fields of the Creator and Its Presence we contemplate this with a sincere desire to understand, then suddenly the question might come, 'but where did that neutron come from?' And the realization might come, 'oh, it's the Soul of the Creator (STC) and the neutron has become the Creation or the Adam. It's all from the same Thing. Right now I am the atom that the STC became.' But it is not fixed and solid like we think matter is. It's a flow of fields and conditions that are controlled by emotions. Then the years of confusion and ignorance blows away like smoke, and a peace and contentment fills our being. In the dimension of the Soul there are no problems. We may be tempted to want to 'make something' out of this experience or to hold on to it. But it won't be possible. It's the road that takes us home and we have to bring the knowledge into our physical life so that we don't misguide ourselves and others. When we have the correct understanding about life then it becomes beautiful, harmonious, and everyone can coexist peacefully and happily with each other. This is the whole point of KF and its teachings. We hope that the participants in Sanya were able to connect with their own Souls and even some with the Creator to help bring this change to humanity.

He gave a very interesting knowledge about emotions today, by saying, 'there is nothing more powerful than emotions.' And that our emotions control what we see. Our emotions allow our body to interact with our environment. Through our emotions we interact with the fields and go to see our dead family members or travel anywhere in the U. Our emotions control the field flows of the energy of the plasma, which is the STM. He gave the example, that the emotion of trying to prove something, can actually blocks us from seeing. The STP and P can change the conditions of the environment that it ?? can keep the Soul from expanding. One thing we know is that the STP does use fear to hold back the STM from leaving the cage it has created for it. And another thing is that sometimes we think we see something, and we are very sure about it, but when we look closer we find out it wasn't true. And then we say to ourselves, 'I just imagined it.' With what Mr. Keshe said here, maybe the emotions caused us to see that something we thought was imagined, but it wasn't strong enough to maintain that vision. Let's hope he will take us deeper into understanding the emotions, and also in a practical way we can apply.

There were a couple of other pieces about emotions. One is that when our emotions are in balance then we don't get sick. We create most of our diseases through emotions, whereas in the Soul there is no sickness. The next one is hard to unravel. Some years ago we talked about Mass and Weight. He said it in a very simple way, when 2 fields interact we get Mass, and when we bring one field into the environmental condition of the other we get the Weight, and that the environmental condition is an emotion, and how it's created affects how the Mass shows itself. But what does it mean? Is the environment really alive that it can effect the weight of matter? Is the Earth really a living entity? Our science treats all the material objects on the planet as a constant weight determined by gravity and other things. If what Mr. Keshe says is right, then if we change our emotion we should also be able to change our weight. Actually, there are Qigong Masters who have demonstrated this. While suspended independently on a rope they can make their weight go up and down. We all thought it was the 'power of the Qi' but now we understand it is the true science and the force of the emotion is included in this science.

In this same line he said about the creation of Carbon. If we only accept the physical dimension then only C12 works on us. But if we accept the truth about the Universal Energy then we can work with C14, because we accept ourselves as a bigger strength plasma and not just the matter state as an atom. This is very interesting and explains why some people go into the systems and it has no effect on them. With this knowledge how could we possibly accept Matter State Science as the absolute truth, because we can change the conditions of any experiment with our emotions. Now we understand why today he kept stressing the stupidity and arrogance of scientists like Einstein and the rest. And because they lose the power and control they don't want to understand, and call it magic or just ignore it.

In Plasma Science we hear a lot about crystalline structure, but it is a little difficult to imagine what this really means. If we are sensitive and hold a crystal stone we can feel the energy of it, but it has always been a kind of mystery about what exactly we are feeling. We also were taught about C60 and the Buckyball, or the soccer ball made of hexagons with a few pentagons added to give it a sphere shape. Today he said, when we put one plasma inside another we'll created an environment of its containment as a crystal structure. We don't find much information about crystals except that they are stable and refract light. The C60 is important for travel in the U. Then he added, that if you rotate one plasma inside another you get these hexagon shapes at the North Pole of planets. Some NASA photos were shown of this phenomena. Inside the planet it is like 2 reactors rotating together with the center core and interact to give the hexagon shape. And if you find the pentagon shape, then you can penetrate the planet that way. The hexagon shape is a crystal structure. When the STP is inside the STM, it forms a crystal structure and we can transmute. And when 2 plasmas join together, this is the real fusion that the scientists have been looking for.

The update on Gaza is that he cannot talk about it, but with the systems running 24/7 it means they are serving the people. Mr. Keshe used the word "appearing." The Iranian military forces have started appearing in Gaza where the border is sealed off, without weapons and are setting up feeding centers at great risk to their lives. The Iranians must have developed the plasma technology way beyond what we can imagine. He told us clearly last time that the UFO over Jerusalem was Iranian. And I am assuming the UFO that was videoed some weeks ago and could absorb around 50 American and Israelis missiles headed for Gaza was also Iranian. Without them knowing it showed up in the background image on CNN, so we got our "CNN" announcement after all. Maybe they are giving the food with headphones and without, because it will be easier for some people to believe if they can put headphones on. Here is the power of the emotion again.

Mr. Keshe seemed very happy about the new research that has come out where they discovered that the brain actually washes itself while we sleep. I am sure he will teach more about this in the future. They created a telescope that can look inside the brain and then they had people fall asleep sitting upright. First of all it's known that the brain sits in liquid and not blood. During particular cycles the liquid in one half of the brain flushes down and washes away all the old energies in the cells and then that half becomes dry for awhile and then refills with fresh liquid. He calls these 'dry times' and maybe they are related to why people fall asleep when using the KF systems. And during the dry times there is little communication between the cells because that was the function of the liquid. It must be a very subtle flow of liquid because they never detected it before and they still don't know where it drains to. During the flushing if proteins (don't get flushed properly) then they can stick to the cells and cause Alzheimer's, cancer and the rest of the brain diseases. So now we are learning how the brain cleans itself.

Other Topics:

Plasma is just fields and emotion. We come to experience love in physicality to touch and feel. We can't do that in the dimension of the Soul.

It's the other way around, we don't have to prove anything to you. You have to educate yourself to be able to understand what we are talking about. We have allowed ignorance to rule for too long;

The Vatican has accepted defeat in Ukraine and has failed to takeover the Russian Orthodox Church. Ukrainians were told to comes to an agreement with the Russians.

When Mr. Keshe has transferred the knowledge to humanity the daughter of Mitra will come in and finish carrying the Man into the Universe.

Thanks for listening.
