

Show UFO from 'Suitcase' in Iran - Truth about Atomic Theory - Live KF Youtube - Prescription Gans - Use Spectrum of Gans - Herbal Medicine - Lungs Field Change

Introduction to 548 KSW

Note: Not checked by KF interpretation by KS of KF Brazil

This workshop is to prepare us for the upcoming evolution in Science and Technology as was promised for 2024. Many years ago Mr. Keshe expressed his wish that the Plasma Technology should be released from Iran. Today he gave us a jolt towards the future by saying, that he will bring a suitcase into Isfahan, open it up and through the interaction of the M fields of the system with the Universal Fields from the Creator, the suitcase will begin to transform into a spaceship, or what we know as a UFO. Even to imagine this happening is quite shocking and definitely a revolution beyond the comprehension of Mankind at this point in time, with his puny little ideas about what he calls Science. This will be a plasma spaceship, but it will manifest and travel in the physical dimension (D). But he said it won't have any doors and Knowledge Seekers (KS) will have to transmute themselves into the Craft. He didn't say the size, but hinted that these UFO's can be as large as 50 football fields so there is no way you can construct an aircraft hangar to build them. It has to be made out of the plasma fields. This is why in the Monthly Flight sessions he is preparing KS to be able to transmute, and many are able to transmute at least at the level of the Soul of the Man (STM). Whether or not someone has achieved full transmutation, I don't think will be revealed at this time. But he wants that transmutation starts to become part of our life, and that we get used to doing it before Iran. Then there won't be that worry about whether or not someone can do it. However, Iran is mainly for showing the Spaceship, and that we can build them ourselves, making it clear that a New Age for a new Science and Technology has arrived. And then from Iran he will pack up the suitcase and move to Washington, and there is where transmutation will be shown publicly. I think the transmutation part will be fully tested in Iran so that in Washington it will definitely be shown, and cannot be interfered with like what happened in 2014 in the time of Obama when we brought the MaGrav Stand-alone power unit to Washington DC and they managed to get to our people, and suddenly at the Washington Press Club part of the system disappeared. Hopefully, this will not happen again, but he warned us today that many organizations will be working to stop us from showing the new advancement in Science. And right now we need full support from KS around the world.

It's interesting that today as we are making a step towards an evolutionary leap in Science, that Mr. Keshe seemed to be giving a coded message to scientists and especially physicists who work with the Atomic model of trying to predict the motion of electrons in different shells and orbits. A lot of the first part of the teaching was focused on this. Therefore, I decided to watch some basic educational videos on electron shells, also called energy levels and orbits. If you do this then you'll understand what Mr. Keshe is up against when he tries to explain plasma to the professors. From their theories they made up these fixed rules of how electrons move around a proton in the center and how they populate the different shells and orbits, etc.. But if we do a Search to see if anybody has seen an electron, they finally have to admit, no. Now these theories have become fact in the minds of the scientists and the people. But then they will say, well, Mr. Keshe has not seen an electron either. The point is not to prove something in the physical D, which is limited by the physical senses of sight, sound and the rest of the senses what we discussed last week. Actually, the truth is he has shown the plasma to the top world scientists over and over again. He showed them the creation of amino acid out of air. Then I believe that scientist was trying to find a way to convert it to matter state so he could become rich and famous and claim it as his own discovery. Even when he rained down particles of gold onto their clothes they refused to believe it. But then a General said to the scientists, how can we deny it, we are covered in it. It has reached the point that the scientists now avoid the KF altogether and do not want to approve the technology. Because now all the fallacies they are promoting will become meaningless. And the ones who don't want to move ahead and grow will lose their power and be equal to everyone else.

The beauty of the Plasma Science is that if we want to know how the Atom behaves and how it is structured we only have to look at the discoveries about how the Universe (U) is created. Creation uses the same pattern whether it is a U, the Unicose, or an atom, or even the way our body is created. It's the Macro in the Micro and vice versa. Nobel Prize winner for Physics Niels Bohr said, he discovered the structure of the atom through a dream in which he saw the electrons revolving around the nucleus, like the solar system. The plasma state does not negate the matter state, but when matter state is ignorant it cannot see the plasma, so it believes it doesn't exist. He gave a lot of little hints how to unravel the knowledge. One is, if we look at images they created for what they call the central line of the U, which the U rotates around, this is the same as the proton in the center of an atom, which is an amalgamation of all the fields. In an Atom there are layers or rings which contain orbits traveling around the nucleus. They call some of these "S-Rings" and they created a specific way the electrons are supposed to populate these orbits. This all becomes very complicated and they claim that the number of electrons is equal to the number of protons, and then they fit them into these orbits. This is fine as an accounting system to keep the concepts in order. But then it becomes a heavy hindrance when we try to force it into a model for creation. Mr. Keshe through his Knowledge of Creation has simplified it, by saying that each of these layers, what they call S-Rings or whatever, are arranged according to M field strength, and when you want to go from one layer to the next you need to have the right field strength to jump across. This is the same when we'll travel the U, we'll need to be able to jump the gaps between the galaxies, which are like the electron orbits or layers. We have to learn how to transmute across these lines, or borders.

An example of this is the amount of energy we need to leave the Earth's atmosphere as well as to reenter it. We don't just go across as if there is nothing there. There is a boundary that separates one entity from another. Mr. Keshe then said these borders are imaginary M field rotations. What did he mean by imaginary? I wonder if that is because they are in the matter state, which some philosophers call, illusionary. It's not that they are not real, rather they are made out of a particular field strength and are felt as solid because of our senses and maybe through the interaction with Inertia.

So now we understand about what the scientists are calling electron shells, S-Rings, orbits, and layers. And these are the same as what we see in the U as the different orbits and gaps between the galaxies, and they are all arranged according to their M field strength, and when we transmute we'll cross these borders through the M field strength we'll create through the emotions of our Soul. It would not be good for us, if when we are transmuting to suddenly get caught in these concepts we were programmed with and say to ourselves, "I can't go to S2 until I first populate S1," or whatever other ideas we have about creation. We have to get the Knowledge of Creation correct in ourselves then our limitations will dissolve.

Well then the question comes, what are all these electrons that the scientists are claiming to be real? First of all, these electrons are not something physical they can see. I imagine that their instruments are picking up bursts of energy in certain locations around the nucleus or whatever, and from this they put together the theory we just discussed. In my understanding, he talked about atomic structure as a mixture of both plasma and matter states and when the matter state hits the plasma you get like a spark or a release of energy and this is what they are picking up in their instruments and calling it the motion of electrons, and then they try to predict where they will occur. He said, they are not able to predict where these energy flashes will be. (Please excuse me if there are any mistakes in what I am saying. I am only trying to summarize in a general way for lay people to understand). The first question is what is this matter state he is talking about, because we can't see anything there? I think it is the matter state magnetic fields, and plasmatic M fields, and these two hit each others and create a flash of light through the interaction of their fields.

After today's teaching I am wondering if there really are electrons the way they teach and believe are real. Or is it just like what we discussed before about "electricity," that electricity is really M fields? He has been emphasizing to us that, Energy is M fields in motion, and we need to understand this when we transmute. Maybe the "electrons" are really M fields flowing around the nucleus in the patterns and orbits that are just like what we also see in the U. If we could break through these concepts, it would give us a huge freedom and open the door to allow our minds to understand how transmutation works. We are just keeping the discussion open.

To further our understanding of the atom, which actually is really a plasma, he said you cannot cram 3 electrons into the inner ring, and then put 25 electrons into the second ring. Unlike how Man's thinking works, the plasma and M fields do not work this way. All the atoms have the same structure. This makes a lot more sense, because H plasma is the basic building block of Creation, and that the higher elements are simply stacked up H plasmas, with greater field strength and greater functionality. And it's the same structure for the U of the Man. I think he means our body. It's all the same basic structure put together in a more complicated way to have greater functionality and to be able to experience different things in life. It's like the complexity of the computer, it's all done with "0's" and "1's." And we have to add to all that was just said, that the M fields interact according to the "Twinity System." Twinity is when the M fields of two plasmas interact and make an Infinity Loop around each other. This gives rise to MaGrav positioning, where each plasma keeps its appropriate distance from each other according to their field strength. One plasma cannot invade another, or kill another, they find their correct position between each other. This has to be understood as part of the totality of working with plasmas and M fields.

Another interesting comparison is about how some galaxies behave like positrons. A positron is just a positively charged electron. I think of positrons as being mostly M and the electrons are mostly G. Then he said in the center line of the U there are galaxies made up of matter state that behave as positrons (?? maybe he meant solid matter like asteroids). Is it that they are imitating the protons of a nucleus? And do they do that because they are following the pattern of how Creation works? Because galaxies are mostly made up of solar systems and not just matter state. I am assuming that he is pointing out that the pattern of Creation is being followed and not the Man's understanding of how he thinks things should be. And in addition, the plasma the center of the U is an amalgamation of fields that come from everywhere. We went over this last week when we discussed in detail how plasmas are created. All the fields come from other places and they connect us to everything in the U, and they always remain connected. This is what is shown on the cover of Book #3, Origins of the Universe. All of those little lines are forming something like a cloud that is going into the center of the U. Now we can understand what we have been looking at for years. We might wonder, how do all these fields fit into what is already a microscopic space. Maybe this is the wonder of Creation that it is not limited by time and space. In fact, time and space are created from it, as a temporary experience. And he said, if we understand this we'll become Passengers of the U.

Mr. Keshe says that we have seen when the plasma takes over in our spinning Gans reactors balls when they reach a certain point the motors stop running. He calls this plasma saturation when the fields of the soul of the system have taken over the physicality (P) and are spinning the plasma reactors itself, and the matter state motors cannot operate. The plasma goes through the soul of the matter state of each element in the motor. In these experiments when the power of the plasma takes over, then the matter state doesn't count anymore, because the plasma energy is in the D of the fields of the U and is much stronger than the matter state. (I think what he means, is like what we just explained about the atoms and the electron shells. When the motor reaches plasma saturation, it's still a matter state motor and we see it there. But at this point the energy starts coming from the inner shells of the atoms. I think the energy is also coming from the M fields of the atoms in the motor and what we call electrons are really just M fields. And maybe the only reason we still see the motors as motors is because of our emotion and the Inertia, which holds them together).

Another helpful image to visualize a plasma is the onion. When you peel off the layers of an onion you find the outer layers loose and easier to break into. As you go towards the center the layers start getting tighter and tighter until you reach the center where they are the tightest. In the center, the field strength is very tight and the structure is very small. This is how a plasma is, the center is tighter and stronger. The outer layers are much looser and have grown up into a Universe. The layers are like the galaxies and have different constructions. So when you are looking at an onion, you are really looking at a plasma of a U.

The important news for today is that since the scientists and governments are ignoring KF and afraid of the changes it will bring, he has decided to create a Youtube channel showing the Live developments of the plasma research leading up to the Iran conference. It will be similar to what was done in the "129 Tesla" experiment back in about 2014 in Italy. They used 3 Star Formations (SF) and slowly built up the fields over weeks, and then finally it went from 92 to 129 Tesla. Modern science cannot generate these kind of magnetic fields. As they don't recognize KF Plasma Science, even today they say 45 Tesla is the strongest magnetic field they have been able to create. And then they show a huge reactor that must have cost millions to build and they don't tell you how many power stations it took to power the system. And I think the magnetic field only last for a very short time. With the KF Plasma Science you can do it without an external power source and by rotating Gans's in reactor balls and using the Knowledge of Creation. In the U the stronger plasma always feeds the weaker plasma to make it equal with itself. Mr. Keshe used this knowledge and in a way, tricked the plasma into feeding one of the SF reactors. Actually, he blocked most of the fields in the 3rd reactor from going back to the 1st, so that it would think it needed more energy and it kept feeding it until it reached 129 Tesla.

KF will start a similar experiment but in this case we will not see the actual reactors, because he is saving that for Iran to show the UFO creation. There will be 4 sensors in kilograms that will represent a part of the system. For example, if some of the sensors start losing weight then we understand that M fields are increasing and the system is starting to takeoff. And there will be other things happening like creation of the physical body of the spaceship and observing the interactions of its Soul. Everyday we can go to the Youtube channel and check the progress and find a way to get involved with the project. We have to educate people to the plasma science so they understand what they are seeing. This is the evolution in science and technology (T). If you are able to help make simple videos explaining the science only in relation to this experiment that would be great, then KF will determine which videos to post on the channel. The focus is to help people to understand this experiment and bring in millions of people. That way the people won't 'freak out' when they see a UFO being created out of a suitcase. And hopefully they will want to be part of the change.

Some years ago Mr. Keshe said the Knowledge of Creation is being gifted to humanity for the purpose of spreading it throughout the U and, so that when Man is allowed into the Universal Community he will come as an equal and not be subordinate or abused by others. Today he has brought it a step further and said that Man is attending classroom of the Universal Teachers, but that the vast majority of the students are at home learning the same thing. And that Man should not become arrogant and start thinking that the Knowledge is from him or that he owns it. He should remain humble and want to freely share it with others in the U. And that all the races are now going through the same struggle as the mankind is in trying to find a way to integrate the knowledge and make the advancements in their own societies.

A question was asked if we can feel better about just taking a flower but leaving the plant, and if eating eggs and drinking milk was more humane then killing the being. And would it make it okay, if we asked for permission? Mr. Keshe first sighed, as if to say, how am I going to explain this to these people. Killing and stealing are killing and stealing no matter how you try to dress it up in sweet calculated words aimed at deceiving ourselves. The process of taking energy from others is built into the whole process of the way we live on this planet. And if we are going to live in body on Earth at this time, then we have to accept the fact that we are murderers. The Vegan is just as much a murderer, as the butcher with the knife in his hands. If we understood the truth about American slavery of the beautiful African Souls, then when they took their children away to be sold, it's the same as when we cut a flower and take it away from its mother. We want to live and die a natural death, then why shouldn't a flower, a grain of rice, and cow be allowed to do the same? We made up a bunch of concepts to deny the reality of the way we live so we can feel good about our Egos. But in the end the fields will have to be balanced. The only solution is sitting with the KF feeding Apps, which are fully functional right now. If we as a planet got together and elevated ourselves we could stop the killing right now. But as usual we'll have to make up some transitional concepts to help us pass the time. In a way, it is not our fault because we were born into this system and have had no choice. But now it is different, we know about the Plasma T so it's our responsibility to make the change in ourselves first and then share it with the other. The Youtube channel will be a big step in that direction and we can bring in the people we know and love, to share this beautiful change that is coming.

To keep KF independent and free from outside power influences KS have to 'step up' and get involved and also donate money to keep this work going. It's amazing how Mr. Keshe will never tell you, that you have to give money. He never says that. He educates us to the need and leaves it up to the power of our Soul to decide. Modern people don't have enough maturity to understand how this works and they consider him weak or in the wrong way. Unconditional Love means just what it says, without conditions, and that can only happen if we know our Soul exists and we are connected to the Creation and Creator. It's not like, well if people see me, then I'll give unconditional love, and when nobody's watching then I'll only love those who are part of my group or who love me first. When a person reaches a certain level of enlightenment then they know the things are working out exactly the way they should be. But the part people miss is, that we are responsible for our fellow human beings and sometimes we have to educate them. Of course, only if we actually live the lesson ourselves. Otherwise, we'll end up being like the hypocrites of the religions. So Mr. Keshe has informed us of the need, and now it is up to us to respond through our Soul.

There is one part that I am a little concerned about and that is this move by a government to make the Gans plasmas only available by a doctors prescription and through the pharmaceuticals. I am assuming this is China but he has not given us those kind of details. It will take some years for them to do the trials, licensing and certification process. The question for me is will it become illegal to make the Gans's at home? Let's hope the Plasma will transform the governments and pharmaceuticals before that happens. But the fact is, we need to make a move somewhere, because right now we don't really have access to the T, until it becomes available for everyone. Our use of the T is extremely limited to 4 Gans's and the power of the plasma won't be released until the research is done and all the correct field strengths are discovered. Mr. Keshe will not give us this information, because it will create a big problem in the acceptance of the T. It has to be done by governments and the scientists have to do the research to find out the field strengths. So we have to take this risk and hope that it will lead to a general acceptance of the Plasma Technology.

More knowledge was added to our understanding of the Gans. A Gans is a living thing that gives and takes energy. Normally we add water to the Gans shake it and let it settle. The Gans itself doesn't physically disappear, it transforms into energy. As we use up the energy, the level of the Gans goes lower and lower. It has different levels of energy and it depends on what level of energy we are taking from it. He used the example of a bakery. If everyday we go and only buy cakes from the bakery, soon there will be no more cakes and only bread left. Most likely our body is not taking a full spectrum of the Gans, and after some time we still see the Gans in the jar, but its effect on us has changed. Because maybe we used up the particular field strength we needed, and then we say the Gans doesn't work anymore. In that case we will have to make a new batch, so that we will have fresh "cakes" in it.

Divers get the "Bends" when they ascend from the depth of the ocean too fast and Nitrogen starts bubbling out of the blood, they say it's from the change in pressure outside the body. Mr. Keshe describes it in a plasmatic way. The environment of water has a different M field strength than air, so when we dive, the manifestation of P in the body changes and it is not used to it so it creates these problems in matter state. If we used a Gans mixture of the ocean when we dived instead of O2 tanks, there would be no problem, because we would already have the right field strength of the ocean in our lungs. The same is true in Space because of the M field change.

When KS tell Mr. Keshe their personal experiences and they want him to confirm it for them, he says, I don't know I wasn't there. This is because we create these personal experiences through our emotions and we also have our mental expectations. So another person cannot answer for us, unless they are there and are capable of judging the conditions and changes that are going on within us as we create our own experiences. But we should also remember that our STM sets up these experiences for our Ego or STP to learn things about itself.

The reason Mr. Keshe knows so much about the body and its relation to its environment is because he comes from a long line of herbal doctors who used to grow their own herbs.

He says it's in his blood. He himself never studied medicine but he knows the interaction of the fields and the herbal medicines are really Gans mixtures. He said in the past the TCM (Traditional Chinese Medicine) was perfect, but the use of chemicals and other things has changed the effectiveness of the medicine by changing the fields.

The Plasma Feeding program KF setup in Gaza is still going on. The important thing for us to know is that once a plasma condition is made it remains. So those Souls who got connected to the system are still able to give and take from it.

Other Topics;

KF technology and products are not medicine and we don't answer medical questions.

Knee Gans is for cartilage of the knee, not for bone regeneration of the leg, that is a different process and different field strengths and interactions.

The STP and P of the Man have a long, long way to go to reach the level of the STM.

Thanks for listening.
