The workshop started out with the Persian Flying Carpet and the question was how do we make it into the Flying Carpet of the Creator and travel the span of the Universe (U). This Flying Carpet is really a symbol for how all of Creation can move itself throughout the dimension (D) of Space. In a very subtle way Mr. Keshe said, all the cells in the Carpet have an independent relationship with the gravity of the Earth and each finds its own position, or should we say, they MaGrav Position themselves. There are a lot of different field interactions to sort out in this simple statement. We have plasmas inside of plasmas, and the MG fields of the Earth, and the different Inertias like the Inertia of the Earth, the Inertia of the Soul of the Carpet, the Inertia of the Cells of the Carpet, and other things. And then we have to think does the Carpet itself fly, or does it need a STM to be the second reactor and to use its emotion to control it? Mr. Keshe makes a simple statement, or what we call, a 'pith instruction' and then we have to try our best to unravel the knowledge with whatever capacity we have available to us. It seems to me that the act of flying or moving our body follows the same basic pattern throughout Creation, and that's what we have to discover in today's workshop. Remember that in 2008 Mr. Keshe went to Iran (Persia) and he sat on the Iranian Space reactor number 2, while the other one remained stationary. Was he on a flying carpet? The flying carpet is the theme of today's teaching and the essence of it runs very deep. The Soul of the Man (STM) can use our body as a flying carpet if he wants to Transport instead of Transmuting. From this we can conclude that the Flying Carpet is a matter state method of Transportation but it uses the knowledge of plasma field interactions to move, the H - C is the source of energy and the building blocks of all of Creation, and the controlling system is the STM through its emotions and thoughts.

The next part was for us to think about is how do we take a step. We raise our foot and move it forward without the least bit of awareness of what is happening. It's so natural that we take it for granted, but within this simple act is the secret to life in the U. Our scientists tell us that our muscles contract and do this or that and the energy comes from our food after we have processed it. Well that's as far as that understanding goes, we have to stop there. But what if we try to analyze it from the point of view of Plasma Science. There is the gravity of the plasma of the Earth pulling the foot or the plasma of the body towards itself and this keeps us from floating around. If we break it down even more, each cell in the foot is a plasma and also has a GM relationship with the Earth's GM fields. To lift the foot means that the M fields in the foot are greater than the G pull of the Earth. The Physic's Law of Conservation says that the total energy of a system always remains constant. For example, the foot in relationship to the Earth could be considered a system and the total strength of M & G fields will remain constant. Therefore, when raising the foot if the M becomes stronger, then the G will become weaker, and the 2 different strength fields will always add up to the total strength fields of the system. This means that as we raise and lower our foot the strengths of the M & G fields will become more and less, but always equal the same number. A good practice to contemplate this understanding is to lower and raise our arms while at the same time feeling the M & G fields changing, and then wondering where does this energy come from and how am I able to move so easily, and yet I feel I have to get in a vehicle to go somewhere? Then we have to consider the Inertia field strengths of all the plasmas involved. And then how our STM provides the desire to move and is connected to the H - C fields of the U for the energy.

At around 30 minutes is where the main part of this teaching starts. Every plasma has an inherent energy and for us on Earth each of the cells of our body positions itself in relation to the M fields of the Earth, it's plasmatic, but we call it gravity in the matter state and it holds everything to the Earth. Then he drew a picture of how every plasma positions itself on the Earth. At first it looked like an "L" with a line coming out, but later I realized he was drawing the X,Y,Z coordinates, and the Z is the height or the field line coming out, and our plasmas position themselves closer or farther away from the center of the plasma of the Earth on this field line. This represents how we position ourselves on Earth. It goes up and down and M & G fields increase and decrease accordingly. It's actually a very simple system for movement in the matter state on Earth, but there are a lot of hidden field forces that we don't know about. Therefore, we remain ignorant of how we move our body, and now we have become dependent on vehicles and fuel to do it.

It's my understanding that the Spiral of the plasma he drew represents these M and G fields coming out and going back to the Earth's center, and it's all done on the Z axis. So when you look at the Spiral he drew imagine it is superimposed on the Z axis. This is how simple we position ourselves on Earth. In the next part we have to stretch our imagination a little more. The Spiral Mr. Keshe usually draws represents the Plasma, and the field strength where we tap into the Plasma determines what it will manifest in P. But in this case he drew a box over 2 different positions and then he said, it was the same cell but at 2 different Inertia strengths. The language is very symbolic, and it is not direct, you have to use your imagination and knowledge. The subject we are talking about is the inherent energy in a plasma. In this case he is saying a cell in our body draws from the Plasma at 2 different positions and strengths. This would mean it can create a Twinity within itself, and maybe this is the source of the inherent energy. I don't know for sure, but this is my feeling. And then he said, all these interactions together with the Inertia of the Gans of the body lead to creation of new dimensions, and us. This is how we are created, and maybe the Twinity connects to the H - C fields from the Creator. It still needs more clarification.

The puppet is a good image for what we just talked about. The STM is the puppeteer and the P is the puppet we see on the stage. The strings that make the arms and legs move are like the Universal Energies of the H and C. The STM directs its emotion down the strings along with the Energy to make the puppet move. When we mature then the puppeteer and puppet will work together as one. It will be one integrated system then we'll become the true actor on the stage of life.

Where we will go at the end of this life depends on us and how we conducted ourselves in physicality. The analogy of the schoolboy is very appropriate. If we are like that naughty boy who disturbs the others in class and prevents them from learning the truth about life, then we are sent to the back of the room in a kind of isolation and punishment, so that we don't disturb others. But also we feel the pain of loneliness and if we are not willing to learn from it, then we blame others and that actually puts us back even more and farther from the Creator. But if we realize the power to get what we want from life sits within us, then the Creator asks us to come to the front of the class so that we can motivate the others to want to learn, and we can share what we have discovered and this expands Creation and adds to the Knowledge. And the joy of our life increases, and if we detach ourselves from the sweet feeling and don't become arrogant, and instead give even more from ourselves, then we expand even more. I have noticed this over the years with Mr. Keshe, that when somebody is really giving selflessly to others, then he wants to give them even more than what he already gave them. If we are someone who is cynical and tends to rebel when we don't get our way, we should test this phenomenon on ourselves and see if we really get more when we rebel, or does our life expand more when we truly give from our Soul. In the end it is only us who stand before ourselves and judge our lives and what we have done, and what our true feelings have been in life. If we do it now before we reach the separation of the Soul and P, then we can change it and decide where we want to go in the U and at what field strength. This is the process of Creation and we can't get away from it. It's the way things work. There is no need to call it, Karma, rather we should think of how it works scientifically and that we are in control of it.

He did mention that there is another option at death and that by creating a system we can take birth in a new body and start out fresh again. It doesn't sound like we transmute into a womb, or go through the birthing process at all. We just appear and the people around wonder where we came from. But we would have a problem with this today because of birth certificates and being identified. It was easier centuries ago during the time of Count of St. Germaine. Nobody really knows about his birth and he had a lot of occult knowledge and people say he kept showing up in different places for hundreds of years. In the past we would consider these stories as fantasies, but now we understand the science of it. I wonder if there is an unspoken rule as to how many of these special Beings can appear on the Earth at a given time. And with the Change will we all be like this, or only those who want to? Will the Transition period last for thousands of years?

It's interesting to go on the Internet and search about why we should give to others and you'll get very interesting and sensible responses. Everybody agrees that it is good to give. And for religious people they have all their dogmas that get involved in their thinking. It is very hard to find someone that understands the science of it. They usually turn it into a philosophical and mystical idea where it leaves off at, 'don't try to understand it, just give.' The religious leaders like that you believe it is good to give to them, it's a subtle form of control. Through Plasma Science we understand it very differently. As we said before there is a balance that is maintained between G (receiving) and M (giving). Our position in life is the result of the balance between the G and M. From the perspective of the Energy of the U the more we give from the G field creates an expansion, but at the same time it means that we will have less. This is the general understanding of people today, they think when they give they lose. They haven't yet understood the bigger picture. By giving away we make room to receive energies, because in the U the stronger plasma always gives to the weaker to make it equal with itself. He said, when we have less in the G field of the STM, then we attract higher energies from the Soul of the Creator (STC). This sounds like an amazing unexpected bonus. But I am sure it has to be done in all humility and sincerity, without that little bit of greed sneaking in and wanting to get the power of the Creator. But I don't think we have to worry about the Creator being deceived by humans. But we do have to understand the true meaning of detachment. Because the hint he gave was that we were never taught how to be detached like the Creator. And our minds cannot understand that the Creator is detached, but at the same time He is attached or Loves the Totality of Creation. To us it sounds like a contradiction, but it is not. It requires a lot of deep inner work and spiritual maturity to understand it. It's like a feeling you have inside that makes you love everything, but it doesn't make sense to your mind. That's just the way it is.

I read the teaching on Black Holes (BH) over and over again and I realized the language used does not match up with the D of physicality. He is not talking about the BH astronomers see in the galaxies. Of course, the Micro is in the Macro, so the pattern is the same. Every atom or every plasma has a BH and can't exist without one, but we don't see this BH in the D of P. It's in another dimension. It's just like the Chakras, we cannot see them but we can feel them, or we feel something that they told us was a Chakra. They would seem to be providers of energy and emotions corresponding to the different organs. A BH is formed when 2 plasmas rotating in opposite directions interact and their M and G fields come to a balance with each other. Then what's the difference between a BH and a plasma? He told us that Black Holes have massive G fields and are mainly absorbers of energy, but at the same time that energy has to go somewhere, and therefore they are providers of energy for other plasmas. If every plasma has a BH then where does it exist? Is it simultaneously there in another D? Just saying the words, "Black Hole" doesn't help us much, but they definitely are pointing to another dimension of understanding.

So what two plasmas create the BH of the STM in the womb of the mother? The language isn't clear, but would it be the STM & STP of the mother? He said, the brain and heart are created first in the womb and that would be the STM and STP of the child. They need to have the full spectrum of field strength to be able to create the organs and the rest of the body. I think the brain gets its 2 lobes because it is created inside the Cu Gans fields in the womb and they interact with the fields of the environment so the brain has the right information to manifest a child befitting to the environmental it's born in. He then said, the STM & STP of the child interact with a 3rd plasma which is the Soul of the mother, and this allows the growth of the child in the womb. Is he talking about 3 plasmas because they form a Star Formation and thus can provide all the energy and information for the proper growth of the fetus? This teaching has given us a lot more to think about.

As we are all interested in Gans's he explained how to recharge the AA in our Gans's and also the Pain Pens. We just have to put them inside a CO2 Gans Box that is producing Gans and it will also recharge the AA in the Pain Pen. I put mine outside the Cup of Life that has mostly turned green and it seemed to be working because the Pain Pens felt stronger than usual. the green is the Cu and will help with the pain in muscles. We should also not put the Pain Pens on metals as they take energy from the Gans and will change its color. The same with running water. It makes sense when you think about it, because the motion of the fields is going away, and remember that one H is of the P and the other H is of the Universal Energy and the O is G for the liquid and gas state of the Earth. We don't wash the AA, instead we take it out and set it aside. I always wondered about the AA because they only really float on top of the water at the beginning inside the reactor, and when you take them out they behave more like normal Gans. He confirmed that and said they are still AA.

Other Topics:

There is an inner inherent energy within the cells of the body which creates continuous G Positioning;

Gans's never mix. Energy fields of different strengths can never mix, unless they give of receive energy that matches up;

The Soul of your shoes have to agree to transmute with you.

Thanks for listening.
