

Here to Serve - The Middle Layer is Key - Invisibility - Contraction of U - Space Refugees Introduction to 570 KSW

Note: Not checked by KF interpretation by KS of KF Brazil

The biggest lesson in this teaching was the example Mr. Keshe showed us. He is suffering with very high fever and he still does the workshop. After an hour he quietly said he could not go on, but there was no complaint in his voice the whole time. This is what it truly means we are here to serve, and to be a servant to the Totality of the Creation.

There was a very important hint about the MaGrav being the principle structure for manifestation of physicality (P). Let's try to open it up a little by summarizing the different points. First he showed us a new type of graph that represents a living entity like a human. It was a screenshot of a video of all these little dots from what they recorded last week from the Flight session. It was a picture of a dynamic flow of fields and it reflected the essence of all the participants, which is the Soul of the Man (STM). In other words physically we see our body, but this recording was of our energy or Soul system. It's actually quite amazing if you think of it. In the center was the STM and spiraling out counterclockwise were two arms, one going to a cluster above, representing the higher dimensions or connecting to the Creator, and the other one went downwards to a lower cluster representing the STP and P. The center of the graph looks like an "S" and is the STM. We have to use our imagination and we can see it looks like a 3 stacker MaGrav system.

To understand this part we need to go into the 3 layers of the skin. The inner layer keeps the organs and their STP, and everything else together as a unit, so that it can exist as a separate entity. The outer layer keeps the outside fields out of the body. It's like two separate environments existing on their own, but they need to be able to interact with each other, because they cannot be totally separate. And one of the roles of the middle layer is to allow exchanges between the inner and outer, while at the same time keeping the integrity of the physical body. Otherwise, it would just dissolve into fields. The middle layer doesn't just have a physical function, but it also contains the emotions of existence. And this is what we have to think more about. For instance, our skin diseases have emotional component to them.

He said the 3 layers of the skin were just like the MaGrav, and at the same time the center of the graph is looking like a MaGrav and it is also the STM. This is the area we want to go deeper into. The Soul must also have the 3 layer structure within itself, but it's on the energy level and not physicality. This feels like a huge "piece of the puzzle" but how to understand it, and how would we apply it? Maybe this is part of how we manifest an energy into the dimension of P. Would the middle layer be the emotion where we create the Inertia needed to convert the energy into matter, or existence in the physical dimension? There is something fundamental in this graph, but we need more information and more time to ponder it.

Recently there has been a lot of discussion about the plasma crystal structure, also called the energy level of C60. You can refer back to those teachings. The main point is that matter state crystal is limited by its physical structure like a diamond for example, or matter state crystal structure as a gas, which would be limited by the room or container it is in. Plasma crystal structure is a totally different and it's not limited by its containment, I think he means the M field line connection of the H and C14 connect it to everything, and therefore it has no limitation. But when a C60 pops out like a popcorn to become a universe, then its boundary or limitation is determined by its own energy, and the field strength of itself and others around it, and there may be some other factors.

KF has reached a point in knowledge that they can make corrections through the plasma for genetic defects. By bringing things into "position" the defects balance themselves out. They have also found a way to change a single gene number instead of changing the whole group. Post Traumatic Stress can be handled with the new Headphones. Broken and bulging bones in the foot can be repaired using the T within 24 hours. We have been able to create Universal Fields with a line to the Creator and they can change certain conditions in materials, emotions and the physicality. If KS who bought the new Headphones also bought the CR materials KF will ask if you want it to be installed directly inside the Headphones as this will give you access to new dimensions.

To become invisible we have to have matching field strengths with the environment. It wasn't so clear, but the way I understood it is that the CRm in themselves don't make us invisible, we have to learn how to create the matching field strength. Each CRm ball has its own spectrum of fields because they are made with different machines in different places. He said, no two CR balls are the same. But then at the end he said CRm could disappear a planet. I guess that would depend on how you use it. This also refers to the middle layer, if we match that one we'll become invisible.

In the Hindu philosophy and in their scriptures they always talk about the 4 Yugas or ages. It goes from the Satya Yuga or Golden Age and descends down to the Kali Yuga, or Age of Darkness that we are in now, and then ascends back up to the Golden Age. It is said that somewhere in the history over the past thousands of years all the intelligent people went into the forest to attain liberation and left the underlings in charge and they got confused and put the length of these Yugas at millions of years. In the past century the Guru of Yogananda, Sri Yuktesvar corrected the Yuga cycle at an ascending part which I think is 12,000 years and a descending part at 12,000 years, so the whole cycle is 24,000 years. According to him we are ascending out of the Kali Yuga which started with the invention of electric lights. Mr. Keshe taught us today that these cycles are made up by the Man to satisfy his need to understand something.

In reality, it's the interaction of the fields that cause the U to expand out to a certain point and then it dies, or we say, it contracts and all the physical life is converted back to fields to be used again to create a new U. This is just a natural process of the interaction of the fields and not these repetitive cycles the Man made up in his mind. When a U dies the Souls are moved to another U as Space refugees, very much like what is called, Atlantis on Earth. Atlantis is mentioned by the Greek philosopher Plato, and it is believed to have been a very advanced civilization that existed on an island in the Atlantic Ocean and when that island sunk the people become refugees and moved to other continents. This will happen to us in the future when our U goes through that cycle. It's a natural process and just needs understanding.

If we work with the plasma then old age should be with normal activity up until about 3 weeks before departure, when at the time the energy starts going out to prepare for the transition, or death.
