Today, when Mr. Keshe started the workshop he said, he didn't know what he will teach, because he doesn't use a script. If you remember some weeks ago he said, there was no greed and the teachings are given with the pure intention of sharing knowledge, therefore they will reach the Universe (U) and are timeless. This is an example of what it means to teach the Soul of the Man (STM) and how to live by the Soul. Several of today's themes are about just that. The first is where did the STM come from and how it was influenced by other Souls in the U to become what we see as the Man and the world we are now living in. And how the Man's education system on this planet will change and become similar to how he was trained as a child in a Persian Zoroastrian school. And the importance of both the Birth of Mitra on December 21, and her Daughter on December 6th, these dates will be celebrated not only on Earth, but throughout the U because of the changes they will bring to Creation.

To help better understand what Mr. Keshe was teaching us about how humans developed through the Soul on this planet I decided it would be a good idea to look at what they call, human evolution. Over the last couple centuries scientists have dug out of the ground a lot of specimens and have built up a huge database of what is known as the Archeological Record. The problem is not the evidence they found, nor even the Carbon 14 dating, which is just an approximation, but which they consider as fact. The problem is the interpretation, which has been led by the British Colonist's backed scientists, and they obviously have an agenda. The biggest problem is they don't understand the Knowledge of Creation and how life is created out of the M fields of the U, and nor do they want to understand. We are not saying their explanation is necessarily wrong, obviously they worked hard and collaborated internationally to come up with a fixed logic that all Universities in the world accept as the only way to understand it. And whatever they find that doesn't fit, and if they can't make fit, then they discard it from their database. When you look at the timeline there are millions and millions of years of certain species that they say evolved into humans, and during these huge time periods there is no development. And then in the last few hundred thousand years you get Homo Sapiens who became the modern humans. And suddenly around 50,000 years ago there was what they call, 'A Great Leap Forward' in modern human development. And then 10,000 years ago the start of agriculture, and only 5,000 years ago urbanization began, which is the same time that written history began. The point is, there is a huge gap in our knowledge about life on this planet, and the only way to fill in those gaps is to understand about how Creation actually works and how the fields are created out of the plasma, which interact to create life. An objective observer would have to ask, how did these sudden advances in human development occur? And did we receive help from others in the U?

I would like to add one point. I noticed in the research they don't say that one species evolved into the next one, because they don't have a physical connection, so they just make that assumption. One species gets started and goes to extinction of itself. For example, Neanderthal Man was a separate species just before Homo Sapiens got formed and it died out. In Plasma Science we can explain it through the STM. It's the Soul that manifests the P. If the Soul got a burst of field strength from let's say 3I, then it would evolve to a higher intelligence and create a new P, or what they call, a new species. If that species doesn't receive any new impulses it eventually reaches extinction. But the STM will get another burst of energy and then it will create a new species again. This means the evolution and development is going by way of the Soul and not the P. This knowledge would bring a whole new way of interpreting the Archeological Record. If on December 19th 3I gives the STM a new impulse, would it cause the STM to create a new species, and the body style we love so much as 'Homo Sapiens' will eventually become extinct?

Mr. Keshe is teaching us to understand the essence of how life is created and then we can start thinking about how life on Earth could have evolved. We want to approach this scientifically and in a way that we will gain knowledge. We don't want to become another group on the Internet that makes wild claims about different Alien races that have seeded the Earth, without any scientific basis. We have a lot of evidence from the past, but we don't know how to piece together the missing gaps. For example, everyone agrees that humans started in Africa and spread throughout the world. But since scientists don't accept M field interactions as the basis of life, they can't accept that the different races are mutations and genetic modifications of the African. A few years ago there was evidence of this when 2 Chinese doctors who were exposed to 'Energy Packs,' or The Virus, suddenly developed African features. It wasn't that they just became black, as some scientists tried to say. The Energy Pack reversed the genetic modifications. Keep this in mind as we discuss about how human development could be related to interaction with 3I - Atlas or other members of the Universal Community.

The Introduction Video was of a past workshop where Mr. Keshe explained that humans were created out of the M field interactions of the Souls with this planet, and we were not transplanted from somewhere else in the U. But that does not mean our development on this planet was not influenced and helped by other races in the U like the race that made 3I - Atlas. It could have been them or other races. The question he posed for us, was did we receive our Soul from 3I? One possible explanation is that the original Soul of the Physicality (STP) of the Man was created from the interaction of the Soul of the Creator (STC) with the Soul of Mitra (STP of U), and that started the original STM, which then interacted with the fields of the Earth and created the original physicality's, which were like the pre-human species of millions of years ago. Then over time 3I or other races added their M field strengths to the original STM. And as the STM increased in field strength its P changed and evolved into what we have today. As the STM increases in strength that gets reflected in an upgrade in intelligence and the physical body of the Man. This is what they call evolution.

Isn't an example of this Mr. Keshe himself? He originally had a human STM, STP and P, and later when he accepted his mission the Soul of the Creator (STC) amalgamated into his Being and he became the 'Mr. Keshe' we know today. We have a lot to learn about the science of how Souls interact. The original Soul has to agree then the higher dimension (D) Soul can amalgamate. I believe that Souls can add field strength to other Souls, because he said, on December 19th our Souls will receive fields from 3I and if we accept them, we'll get higher intelligence and also a change in P, among other things. Maybe in Mr. Keshe's case the STM merged into the STC instead of the other way around. He will carry the essence of the experiences of the STM & STP of the Man into his next incarnation. Maybe this is the pattern of the U, as we have more experiences we accumulate more H plasma amalgamations and become higher elements. What if Mr. Keshe's experience on Earth is like Lead (82) becoming Plutonium (94)? And when you accumulate all the H plasma in the U you become the Creator. Once he said the Creator has all the Knowledge in Itself.

We know already that we cannot physically have children with Alien races because the physicality's do not match. Every P has a unique field strength according to the planet it is born on. So if in the beginning, Alien races came to Earth they would not be able to mate with humans physically. The only way is, if they could create an emotion of love between themselves and humans strong enough to create a 'Child of the Soul.' The Child then decides to create a P. Maybe the different fossils they found over millions of years are from these interactions with Alien races. We don't know. But now we know that it is possible. If Aliens could not have children, they still could influence and become part of the field strength of the STM just by their presence of being here. Every 3,000 years when 3I passed the Earth it added fields to the STM. In effect, they have been fertilizing development on Earth. It's actually quite amazing. It means just having contact with a higher Being adds field strength to our Soul. Now we can understand why the Indians go on pilgrimage to holy places and want to have contact with Saints and Sages. The blessings they receive increase in field strength and elevate the Soul. Western people think they are backwards and superstitious, but actually their Souls have the true knowledge. Now we are receiving the "Darshan" of 3I - Atlas and it will elevate the whole Earth.

In the Old Testament in Genesis 6:1-4 it states that the 'sons of God' took 'daughters of men' as wives and produced Giants as offspring called the Nephilim. In other scriptures of the world Giants also appear. But there is no indication of how the children were born. The bones of Giants have been discovered, but they keep them out of the Archeological Record. What is very interesting is that in the Mahabharata of India, the Queen Kunti had 5 children from the Sun (Surya), but they make it clear these are 'Children of the Soul,' because they came by way of emotion and Mantra, which are M fields. Humanity already has knowledge of making Children of Mitra, but we don't want to understand or accept it.

Then Mr. Keshe went on to discuss in more detail about his upbringing and education in Persian Zoroastrian schools. The importance of this is that he received a foundational understanding of life and had the Ethos of Mitra as a living example in his social experience at a young age. This makes all the difference because the impressions made during this time stay with us throughout our life in the 'subconscious.' As he said, it gets ingrained in us and gives us a guidance and purpose in life. If we contrast this with modern education then we understand that we are mostly being indoctrinated, rather than educated. And the masses are socially rewarded to remain ignorant. When humanity changes, then automatically the education system will be changed, because everything is connected together in a big web. Unfortunately, society does not allow the children to be changed first. Therefore, we have to wait until the field strength is strong enough to start properly educating our children. Parents can try at home, but it usually gets counteracted at school and outside the home. The biggest protection the parents can give is the shield of love. Later in life, the seed of love will sprout and the Soul will come forward and change the P. And when the time of the change does come the method for educating children will be similar to what Mr. Keshe described as the way he was educated. This will only be during the transition period until Children of the Soul are created. They don't need education as their Soul already accesses the Knowledge.

Unfortunately, our knowledge of ancient Persian culture is very limited. It seems that some force did not want humanity to know about them. Even though Alexander the Great loved the Persian culture, he was tricked by the Greek nationalists to burn their libraries one night while he was drunk. Those who considered Greek culture superior started to plot against him especially after he made his Generals take a Persian wife. The Greeks felt the Persians inferior because they dressed simple, lived simple, spoke the truth, and they didn't worship the gods. In Aryan culture they didn't build temples, because they understood about the Transcendental God. Some Greeks mistakenly translated it as an Unknown God, but it really means the God that is before the Mind, and cannot be known by the mind. When the Aryans mixed with the other cultures that worshipped the Goddess (Devi) their beliefs eventually got mixed up as well. For example, Ahura Mazda comes from the Devi worship in the area of Iran before the Aryans came. Without a deep spiritual understanding it is difficult to sort out the true history. What we have left are the rock inscriptions and the Faravahar which is the bird carving and symbol that has hidden in it the deep meaning of Zoroastrian culture. In a way, it summarizes the main principles of life. The top 3 layers of feathers are Think, Speak, and Act Good, and the bottom tail feathers are when you do the opposite bad things in our life. Mr. Keshe explained it very nicely. The Zoroastrian schools are a remnant of the past glorious time of the Persian Culture. Over time they started to get corrupted by the Greek fashions and extravagant way of living and they lost the power of the truth in their simple way of living and were taken over by other lower cultures. It is very similar of how American culture has taken over the world today. But the essence of the teachings of Mitra and Zoroaster still remain in the Persian Soul.

It's interesting that the first Historian Herodotus wrote that the Persians worshipped a goddess named Mitra. But he confuses it with her being the equivalent of the Greek goddess Aphrodite Urania. This makes me think Herodotus was not a very wise man, instead he collected trivia about history, but didn't understand the deeper meaning. This is why we don't have good documentation of Mitra and what she truly means in term of the whole of humanity. It seems Mr. Keshe is the only one who talks about Mitra this way.

If you try to look up the role of women in society on the Internet to better understand what Mr. Keshe means about women, it will be totally confusing. What we are being fed is 'politically correct' but has nothing to do with the Knowledge of Creation and how M and G fields interact. You might be better off to study about the Yin and Yang in ancient Chinese Taoist philosophy, or about the Shakti in traditional teachings of India. Mr. Keshe said, historically Western culture demeaned women as being a spare - part, which means they have no value of their own, they are considered not very intelligent, and are regarded more as objects of pleasure. This attitude is ingrained in the male dominated power structure that is still in operation today, though it is hidden in the background of the religious, political, and social structures. And unfortunately, subconsciously many women have accepted this role for themselves, even though outwardly it looks like they haven't. For women who are given political and social power, it is because they behave like a man. For example, Margaret Thatcher was called the 'Iron Lady' and she behaved like Ronald Reagan, and not like a woman with a caring heart. If you don't believe what we are saying and want to find out the true position of women in society you can't go by what is made up in the Media. Instead, look at the indicators like the divorce rate, the crimes against woman in society, juvenile delinquency, and problems that arise when the home is not stable. The roots of these attitudes come from the past and are passed down through generations. These problems cannot be solved by externally changing the outer conditions. It's only when we as society and individuals decide to deal internally with the true causes that they can change. By increasing the field strength to the STM it will reflect in not only higher intelligence but wanting to live a more truthful life. Mr. Keshe gave an example of the ancient Persian Zoroastrian culture so that we know it is possible to live differently than how we are living now.

During the first few weeks after inception we all are females, and then suddenly a gene jumps and changes to a male. But it was not said why. Once Mr. Keshe told that the UN has recorded a tribe that makes the decision about whether the child will be male or female based on the needs of the tribe. But they keep this knowledge hidden from the public. It's not about being a male or female, as in the Soul we are all equal. It depends on what kind of experience we want to have, then through our emotion we change the field strength to achieve it.

It was my understanding that in a subtle way Mr. Keshe was trying to keep the subject of respect for women from going towards sentimentalism and idolization of women. Otherwise, it runs into the same problems because there is no knowledge in it. When he said, he worshipped his Mother, and that the Persian Mothers are the center and make the decisions in the house, and that a man is not complete without a woman, all these things imply certain understanding. If the family truly loves the Mother then the force of their M fields will be directed at her heart, and her Soul will be elevated to that responsibility and she'll use that energy, not for her own vanity, but as a leader who is responsible for the well being and spiritual development of all the members of her family, even her husband.

From the stories Mr. Keshe tells of his Mother, it is clear that she was at that level. It's not that she was the 'boss' of the family. It's hard to understand if you haven't experienced the true essence of love. This also has to do with the Knowledge of Creation. It's not that she necessarily knows better intellectually, the power of the love has the knowledge, and it automatically does what is best. Maybe because it is connected to the Soul, which is connected to the Creator. It's true what Mr. Keshe said, I would argue with my Father, but not my Mother. There is something about love that defies logic, and it truly does know what is best. But this is from the point of view of the Soul, and not the P.

In the new UBESUS Headphones Health Units it will be setup where instead of the doctors deciding about the fields, the Souls will decide. The doctors are still there to monitor the patients, but the emotion of the patient will decide what it needs. Then he described another aspect to it. If for example, we have 10 people connected together with the UBESUS and say 1 has cancer and the other 9 don't, the majority of the Souls will balance the one with cancer. The same principle will apply to the 10,000 ONN Units, the healthy Souls of the planet will balance the unhealthy ones. But there is one thing we have to remember and that is the 10% rule in the Law of Plasma. The 90% will balance the 10% that are out of balance. He didn't say what happens when it goes outside of these limits. In the future, this is how the whole planet will remain in balance at all times. It will be done through the Soul, then there won't be any imperfections like genetic defects and so forth. This is how it used to be on Earth thousands of years ago. There were powerful Souls that lived amongst humanity and kept them in balance. They didn't speak in words, they understood each other's emotion.

We know that human's way of life is bad, but we never realized how bad because we walk and breath and live in it everyday. Those who rule us intentionally have setup our cities to poison us and drain our energy by making us live in constant negativity. The way the streets, buildings, lighting, and everything else is setup to create a toxic environment. The future cities we'll live in will have to be totally rebuilt to reflect the Knowledge of Creation and to respect the M and G field interactions of the Plasma. China is already starting to build cities that won't have lighting, because our Souls will light our environment in a way that we'll feel safe. And there won't be supermarket, police stations, Courts, prisons, and very few hospitals if any. There won't be hunger. And Man's mentality will change that he won't live in fear or worry anymore. We'll create environments of peace and when the Soul is at peace, the Mind and P will also be at peace.
