

One Pattern for Creation M & G Circuit - H/C14 - G Field Feedback to Creator - Everything In Twinity - Brain Supplies Own Energy - Two Nervous Systems - Messiah

Introduction to 626 KSW

Note: Not checked by KF interpretation by KS of KF Brazil

Today's workshop goes deeper into the knowledge of how plasmas function and interact and in a way, they all follow only a single pattern. It doesn't matter how we name it, whether we call it in electronics current and Eddy current, or in plasma M and G, or in electricity positive and negative, in principle it is all the same. Many times in the past we discussed that what they call electricity is really M fields. Mr. Keshe started out by explaining that in physics an electric current will flow in a direction until it meets with a resistance, that interaction will give a feedback to the source telling it to deliver energy along the line of the connection. But nothing will happen unless there is a complete circuit. For example, if we have a battery as the source, nothing will happen until both the positive and negative wires are connected together in a complete circuit passing through the device that can use the current. The device through Potential Difference causes the higher pressure in the battery to flow to the lower pressure in the device and the flow of electricity is called the current. Even though we are describing matter state electricity, the same pattern is followed in plasma.

An example of plasma would be like the Sun. It sends out invisible M fields to the Earth and receives back G fields from the Earth completing the circuit. For plasma to flow there has to be a connection. In a way, the Earth is the child of the Sun so it has that connection of having the same field strength spectrum and it makes a closed circuit between the two entities. Now the plasma can flow because the stronger gives to the weaker. This is just a general explanation there are more details about how the plasma functions. We could say that the Sun is like the DC battery and the Earth is an electrical appliance. The wires would be like the M fields, and the field strength is like matching a 12 volt battery to a 12 volt appliance. The appliance creates a demand or a need so that the plasma gives. The Sun then is really like a battery or a supplier of energy, and this is the pattern of how the plasma works throughout the Universe (U) and Creation.

However, the big difference between the matter and plasma is that the Energy for all of life is inherently part of the plasma itself. It's about learning how to work with M fields to connect to the Source through making a link and closing the M and G field circuit and when we have a need it is automatically fulfilled. This means by mentally creating a feeling of separation we are blocking the flow of Energy to ourselves, and then we go and try to steal it from others. This is why we are being taught that we are already connected and how it works.

So as not to get confused, the way matter state scientists define Eddy current, is not how Mr. Keshe is defining it. When they induced a magnetic field on a wire with electric current flowing through it they noticed it caused the current to flow in what they thought was backwards. In other words, to them it was an anomaly and they used the word 'eddy,' which refers to parts of a river that flows in reverse. To them, there is only the M field part flowing in one direction, and there is not a G field flowing in the opposite way. They only have half of the story. The truth of the plasma and how Mr. Keshe is defining it, is that whenever there is a M field flowing in one direction there is automatically a G field of a different strength flowing in the opposite direction. It is not an anomaly, it is how the U works.

How does this pattern apply to the Creator and Creation? In past years we were taught a lot about Hydrogen (H) as the Fundamental Plasma (FP), Carbon 14 (C14) and many other things. Remember that H has only a proton and an electron and is considered unstable, whereas as Deuterium has a proton, neutron, and electron and is considered stable because it is balanced. Now we are going to apply this knowledge in a practical way of how the U is created. The way I understood the teaching is that the Creator radiates His Energy as H plasma across Creation and it falls on everything equally. In a way, it is like a M field, but how does it return to the Creator, what is its feedback? The H goes out and interacts with itself and becomes plasmas and the plasmas gives off C14 as the feedback to return to the Creator. This is the G field. As it is traveling back to the Creator it interacts with other things like elements and fields and this leads to creation of new conditions, cells, organs, planets, moons, and more and more things. But eventually it makes its way back to the Creator. This sounds very similar to how our Soul takes its journey back to the Creator. It must be the same pattern.

What's interesting is that by talking about Tesla as M and Professor Meyl as G, Mr. Keshe seems to be implying that both the M and G fields act separately and each have their own life. We know of course, that it is really the same field, only when it comes back in, do we call it a G field. And yet both of these scientists created their own theories about their inventions with electricity. Unfortunately, I don't have enough background information to talk much about why Tesla is M and Meyl is G. Maybe it is only in matter state that we make that difference, perhaps they were both working with M fields. Professor Meyl worked a lot with inductors, which are really just Cu wire wound around Fe or magnets that cause the current in the wire to flow "backwards." Again this is because they are denying that there is already a G field flowing backwards, and maybe they are just intensifying that G field. Unfortunately, those in charge are not allowing knowledge of electricity to advance. The early scientists like Tesla, Maxwell, and Heaviside discovered many more formulas for electricity but they were not allowed into public awareness. We got stuck with just AC and DC. And it seems like Professor Meyl is not advancing his work. Obviously, if he were to breakthrough into plasma he would have great troubles. Hopefully, Mr. Keshe will soon breakthrough this wall of repression and all the sciences will merge together into the Knowledge of Creation.

We again come to the topic of Twinity. If we think about it, what do we take as a reference point in Space to stabilize ourselves? On Earth we have our body and it's in reference to the physical structure of the Earth. When a plasma is created in Space it has to exchange energy with another plasma in an Infinity Loop type interaction that brings it stability. Perhaps so it doesn't jump around all over the place. This is called the Twin plasma, Twin Soul, star, Solar System (SS), U, and everything else. Twinity is the Law of creation of plasma and it can't be done any other way. He has just given us a general understanding of it and not how it works. If its purpose is to bring stability then would our Twin star have to be somewhere on the opposite end of Space to balance us? Then how can it come close to us? Once he said, when our Twin Star comes close to us, it changes our fields. Does that mean the Twin star can move around independent of our Sun's location? Maybe the physical Twin has different rules than the Soul Twin. He did say that each of the Twin Souls are independent of each other, but their behavior and energy affect each other.

As the Micro is in the Macro it means that the atoms also have Twins. It seemed he was implying that the Twin of the atom is different than the Twin within the structure of the atom. In the atom itself the neutron is like the STM, proton the STP, and the electron is the P. The interaction of the neutron with the proton leads to creation of the electron. This is a very different understanding than matter state physics. So where would the Twin of the atom be? In this dimension or another? Then the atom would be like our body or person. Is there a Twin of our person here on Earth or somewhere in the U? If we have plasmas inside of plasmas, inside of plasmas, then how does that affect the Twin of each plasma? There is a lot more to unfold in this teaching. In summary, the Twin Soul in plasma is not the 'Twin Soul,' which is a romantic idea in popular culture. Rather it is a structural Law in how plasmas are formed and can exist in Space.

All of this leads to the understanding that there is only one process for creating in the World of Creation. It all starts with the Creator emitting Rays, or the Cosmic Rays (CR) or the H, or FP and the M field interacts with itself or it vibrates and creates waves and all of these are in essence the Source of Creation. Then what they become depends on how they interact with the Place, Position, and Possession (PPP) and create Time. Their manifestation in physicality become the stars, planets, galaxies, universes, the STM, and the parallel universes, or the Twins of everything else. This is the summary of Creation and there can't be any exceptions. This is how it is done. The exceptions are when we don't understand and make up things in our head. This means there is a Soul of the Solar System (SS) and it has a STP of the SS, but we don't see it, or don't understand what it is. The interaction of the two lead to creation of the planets. And further interactions lead to creation of the STM and us humans. Most of us Knowledge Seekers (KS) have not understood the totality of this knowledge and that Creation uses this same process no matter what it creates. We are going to use the same process when we transmute across the U. There are no engines rotating the Heavenly Spheres. They rotate due to the interaction of the M and G fields. The M field of the Creator is H and the G field is C14.

Before he said that a single Ray of the Creator created everything. Now he is saying, that Ray is more like a field than a single Ray and that when it vibrates it creates waves. I understand him to mean the field vibrates itself as it travels and creates waves which are different than the other field interactions it makes. And this is the same when the C14 travels back to the Creator, it also vibrates and creates things. Therefore, if two of these vibrating fields hit each other there will be a lot dust and debris, but also massive amounts of energy. Now we can understand where all the energy comes from to rotate all the planets, SS, galaxies, universes and Unicos. The energy comes from the Cosmic Rays and nothing else. Since our scientists don't understand this they look for energy in rotating magnets and what they call, perpetual motion. But the plasma itself works on the basis of perpetual motion. Man's half-cooked knowledge has led humanity into the problems we have today, that we can't understand how anything truly works. It wasn't always that way, our ancestors understood how the plasma works and they used it. But because everyone was isolated in villages they could not unite humanity in the knowledge. But why did he say, we see that humans understood right across the planetary systems in different locations? Was Man so advanced that he could live on the different planets in our SS or in other SS?

It's been a long time since Mr. Keshe taught us some secrets to the MaGravs, which he rightly said, we never understood. Why do we coil the Cu wire? Isn't this the structure of the plasma? Isn't this how light travels from one point to another? To understand the totality, we need to understand how energy transfers. This is also probably how electricity flows through Cu wires and not straight inside the wire like the experts tell us. This is another important piece of information we'll have to sort out sometime. Then there was an analogy of how we generate electricity. The H is like the rotating magnet in the center of the generator, and the C14 is like the Cu wire that it flows out through. The interaction of the H with the C14 generates a huge amount of energy. Then he brought this knowledge into how the brain is working.

There is a lot of knowledge hidden in his description of how the brain is functioning that is difficult to unravel. What I understood is that the Energy dimension of the brain is totally different than the P dimension. First of all the brain is made of H/C14 Gans and he tested this himself by making buckets of a cream colored Gans back in Italy. So the jelly like brain mass is really a Gans Plasma that connects to the Creator through the H and C14 fields, which are really the M and G fields in a closed circuit connection with the Creator. And in terms of Plasma, the STM has gathered huge M fields during its life experience in P on Earth that is equivalent to 50 Hiroshima Bombs when it leaves the body. Even trying to understand how the brain uses Megawatts of equivalent electricity is too far for matter state scientists to comprehend. Instead they came up with this theory that has pretty much become fact, that the body breaks down glucose in the presence of oxygen and produces adenosine triphosphate (ATP), which they say is how the cells get their energy. Mr. Keshe said, this is all rubbish. The energy to run the body comes from the interaction of two M fields that are not equal with each other, or out of balance. Remember the stronger feeds the weaker, this is how the cells are run, but the energy must come from the U through the CR or the H/C14 fields. This is the same when we rotate a magnet inside a generator. Think about it. They say the electricity comes out of the magnet, but their knowledge stops there. Niagara Falls has been spinning the same magnets for over a century, nobody has ever said where that energy is coming from. And they are not allowed to ask.

The scientists have discovered that the emotions are related to certain areas in the brain and then they have related things to hormones, chemical transfer, the nervous system and matter state things like that. Mr. Keshe started talking about the isotopes and how they consider them in terms of the number of neutrons and protons and whatever. In Plasma we don't need terms like isotopes because everything has a specific field strength and different spectrum of fields strengths would include different isotopes. So there is no need to give it a special name. In the same way the different emotions are different M field strengths. The different areas in the brain related to different emotions are based on different plasmatic field densities in the Gans of the brain. The way I understood it, is that the reason the brain is soft is so that it can mix different densities of plasmas together and from them make different emotions, because it is itself a dynamic plasma conversion station. But more than that, the STM is in the center and connected to the Creator. The return G field to the Creator is the C14 which has a spectrum of energies that covers the whole U. It all depends on how it interacts with the H plasma. This means Man has the potential to experience Universal Emotions. In other words, our brain has been wired directly to the Creator. This also indicates that the brain can operate on its own and doesn't need the heart or the P to live. It is self- sufficient in Energy on its own.

The brain is split in two halves that are energetically out of balance and therefore they interact and feed each other. There is more to it. There are two separate nervous systems that we never knew about. The one we know about is the spinal nervous system that handles the P and if these nerves get cut then the limbs don't function. The second nervous system goes down the front of the body and handles the emotions, which are invisible. The two systems interact in a Twinity and feed each other. So if the spinal cord gets cut we don't die. The P part where the nerve is cut will stop functioning but the Twinity will feed the body and organs to keep them alive. The Thyroid gland is somehow the controller of these two nervous systems at the throat. It's also shaped like a butterfly reflecting the two systems. The brain provides its own energy. It's interesting because there are certain spiritual practices where you guide the energy up the spine and down the front completing a circulation of energy. When the head is cut off it severs the connection to the Twinity and the P dies.

In the Indian Scriptures whenever a very high spiritual adept who had attained 'siddha' and uses his Energy weapons for evil purposes, they almost always cut their head off. I understand now that these are Plasma Powers and they don't come from the gods, like Shiva. Instead, they come from our own Soul, but receive the permission and guidance of these Deities. The 'Brahmarastra' is probably Cosmic Ray level Energy. When those who have surrendered to their Ego, and arrogance rules their life, when they try to use them against Good, the weapons fail. This is why I think they are plasma weapons because the plasma cannot do harm. And now we have a repeat of the Mahabharat with this Mr. Trump. Mr. Keshe said, he has become evil and the T cannot be released when people like him are in power, because they will use it to damage other Souls. Now he has boasted of his cowardice by using lesser technology weapons in Venezuela. He used a kind of Microwave weapon that paralyzed the soldiers and some started bleeding at the nose and went into convulsions. They said something like their head was so painful it would explode. Did they use wireless power and was this from Tesla's work on the "Death Ray"? Now other countries will use these type of weapons following Trump's example. This is part of what we have to go through to reach the planned peace in 2026. The Enlightenment Game and the Keshe Coin (KC) is our hope now to establish world peace.

There is a huge difference between Cosmic Rays and CR energy. The energy comes from interaction of the Cosmic Rays themselves, which becomes a current and that's the source of the dynamism in the body of the Man, and not only Man, but also for the SS, galaxies and U. Now he is saying there is a difference between the G and M fields, just like there is a difference between H and C14. So it's more then just the same field going in the opposite direction. They have different functions. He explained why some planets, stars, galaxies and the rest of it have different speeds of rotation. It has to do with the gap between the G and M fields of the entity. When the gap between them is bigger, but the bandwidth of the G is narrower then the G becomes more powerful. This causes the entities to rotate faster. The way I think about is, the G has become more focused and thus stronger and the wider gap could mean the M has become more dilute. And secondly, there is a difference in conversion of the energy. I think he means, the return G field is pulling more from the environment and this increases its speed of rotation. In some cases they are creating too much energy in the gap and they become like a runaway motor. And then there is something to do with C20 and C48, which we don't know about yet.

In regards to the Monthly Flight sessions he said he discovered what was missing in the knowledge of the KS. Now they will try to help us to find transmission. It means we'll learn how to transmit information within the structure of the plasma and this will lead to being able to create the correct conditions for transmutation. This is what he saw missing. Everybody had a break from the flights and now we'll come back in full force with greater power to create the transmutation. But KS should understand that this same CR energy doesn't just have to be used for flight. If we want to make changes in ourselves towards understanding and changing our emotions and becoming enlightened we can use these sessions to make great advancements.

In 2026, KF will release breakthrough T where cars won't need even to have batteries. We are working on a patent and documents are being submitted to governments. We'll create energy through understanding Cosmic Rays, then all the governments will be equal and the whole of humanity will have access to whatever they need. Then we'll work for the joy of doing something good and not from fear of starvation and poverty. Huge change are in the works and part of it is understanding the difference between M and G fields and how to work with each one. When we can tap into the Energy then there will be no problem to transmute.

Mr. Keshe made a very clear statement to those who need to hear it that way. He said, we are the return of the Christ, or the Messiah in the knowledge of the Man and not the P. We all will get access to the Knowledge of Creation, but through our own 'independent investigation' of the Truth. Then we'll know how to access and use the Energy. In the coming months we'll touch the Soul and physicality of every living Being on this planet.

Not by talk, but by delivery of T so that every Man understands and can comprehend. I think he means that the secret is in working with the feedback, or the G field that goes back to the Creator. Through this C14 field we'll receive the knowledge, enlightenment, and understanding of how the Creation works. Try to understand the teaching of today as I have given you the secret of Creation.

Another important aspect of the Twinity is that our own body forms a Twinity from the left side to the right side. In other words, there is a continuous flow of fields from for example, the left arm around to the right arm, and this occurs from the bottom to the top of the body. It creates a kind of vertical cylinder that is like a confinement of ourselves as a body. It's not just that we have arms hanging on the side of our body so we can reach something, there is also a plasmatic reason behind it and it creates a boundary of our body, of who we think we are. It's partially due to the Carbon structure and it means the Twinity is not just with the STM, the body also has a Twinity that allows it to function. This is the same pattern across the Creation. Those of us who do Energy work are well aware of the pairing of the body especially with Acupuncture, but we didn't know it was foundational. This means when we have pain or problems on one side we can visualize the opposite side to balance the Energy. But it actually goes straight across and not only up the arms or legs to reach the other side. When we watch Qigong Masters perform we can understand that they are dancing inside a column of Qi.

We should keep in mind that when Mr. Keshe puts information out into public he first goes through rigorous research and study to make sure it is absolutely 100% correct. He spends a lot of time reading research papers and confirming his own understanding of plasma in the matter state for our benefit. He does that out of love, because he knows that we don't know the totality of the plasma and only little bits and pieces of it. Therefore, he has to prove to us through our own understanding and not his. A KS was wondering why Mr. Keshe said that about the placenta being made from the male's energy and not the females. It was confirmed on the Internet that he was absolutely correct. The doubt was in our own lack of understanding. But it is necessary that we do the research ourselves so that we truly understand and not just follow blindly. This is why he says, we take from this knowledge according to our own intelligence. This also means the plasma manifests on many levels at the same time and therefore we have to be open to grow in our knowledge, then slowly we understand more and more.

This workshop is one of these massive treasures of Knowledge of Creation and I hope you will spend time uncovering its beauties. Whatever is written here is very limited and surely has many mistakes and I hope you will work hard to uncover them and in the process we'll all learn more and more.

Other Topics:

If Man can control the initial M field of the Cosmic Rays, then we'll be able to transmute in seconds. We can create power stations that are the size of an atom. This is how the brain produces energy in Megawatts to run itself;

KF Energetic Liquids can be ordered from any European pharmacy as Wellness products and they are licensed. In a way, in less than 3 weeks after the end of 2025, the KF Plasma Technology has indeed gone public in that it can be openly purchased in society like any other product. We hope the Europeans who are the first to have this privilege, will take advantage of it.

Thanks for listening.
