

Cosmic Ray MG Field Inertia Creates the Environment of Creation - Control Through Emotions - Create by Wish - Ca Field Strength Change - NASA & Moon - War

Introduction to 637 KSW

Note: Not checked by KF interpretation by KS of KF Brazil

In the beginning we were taught that everything is created from M fields. In this workshop Mr. Keshe broke that down into more detail, by saying that everything comes from the interaction of Cosmic Rays (CR), which are the fields of the Creator. We knew that the MG fields interact with the Inertia fields of planet Earth and the environmental MG fields to manifest the physical dimension (D) of what we see around us and what we can call our life on Earth. Now, we've been given even more knowledge and that is, the CR also have an Inertia, which create the environment that allows matter to manifest itself within it. For those of us who are only trained to understand matter state as the only reality, Inertia is something difficult to grasp. In my understanding, I think of Inertia as the desire to exist and the necessary field strength to manifest something in the matter state. The Inertia of the Earth is its desire to manifest its own physical D. In a way, this is the end product after a long line of subdivisions of manifestations in the process of Creation. We have also to consider the Inertia of the Solar System (SS), Galaxy, Universe (U), and Unicos. We haven't been taught about these Inertia fields yet, which I am presenting here as an assumption. Today, Mr. Keshe taught us that there is a Cosmic Inertia as well, and it comes from the Cosmic Rays. If a seed of a star wants to manifest in a Galaxy there is a hidden energy called, the Cosmic Ray Inertia that creates the environment for it to manifest in. I am assuming that this is true for all of Creation, and this is how we can create a fish from a drop of water. In a way, CR Inertia is the common denominator and background Inertia of all of Creation. If we want to manifest something on Earth or anywhere else in the U we have to understand about Cosmic Ray Inertia fields and how they interact.

There is a very important principle of Creation that we need to understand. Years ago when Mr. Keshe said, he can create a fish from a drop of water in a fish tank, it started a process for us to try and understand how Creation takes place. If we break it down into pieces we can analyze more. First, how come a drop of water can manifest anything in the U? It's made of H₂O, but that doesn't answer it, because we only know about matter state atoms. He said, one drop of water, or one atom, or electron, or proton carries the whole information of the Essence of Creation, from the time when Creation began. I understand this to mean that every single plasma in the whole of Creation contains at the same time all the information of Creation. Therefore, any Fundamental Plasma, or H can be anything in the U and that's why he draws the plasma as a spiral. It all depends on what field strength we tap into it. Okay, that is that part of it. But what determines what it will be? Today, he stressed that it is the fields of the environment that dictate what it can be. This means if we want to create something we have to create the correct environment for it to manifest itself in as matter. This is unknown by humans, because we think that we just create the matter out of other matters, or we dig it up and melt it, or whatever. So to have the knowledge that we need to create the environment to manifest something, is actually a huge advancement. We actually know this already, without knowing it. If we take and heat ice it melts and becomes water, and with further heating it becomes vapor, which can travel anywhere in the room. We add energy or reduce energy in the environment and we change the matter state manifestation. We do the same thing with plasma, only we change the MG fields and that changes the manifestation of Energy into matter or vice versa. And then there is the question about the fish tank. If there is no fish tank, then the drop of water could not be manifested into a fish. Why? Because it is environment dependent, so the fish tank has to be there. And this is the whole point of today's teaching, understanding the environment.

In summary, the 'drop of water' is a symbol for the Knowledge of Creation, and through it we understand that the fields of the Creator travel through Space and where they interact with a local Inertia they 'condense' to become matter state. What kind of matter they will become depends on many different interactions, but mainly it is the environment that is created that will dictate what the fields will become. So far we know about the Inertia of the Planet, the MG fields of the Planet, the interactions of the Souls and through their emotions determines what the fields will become, and now we have to add to that soup of fields the CR Inertia which creates the environment for something to manifest in.

As part of the environment we have to talk about the space around, or in which everything is created on top of. As in the Micro, so in the Macro. In the body we have the lymph which the scientists call interstitial fluid because it surrounds the cells, but for them it is only to pick up waste, excess fluid, and bacteria. This is what they understand as lymph and if we say to them the cells are actually created from the lymph they will laugh. In a way, the lymph is really that H Plasma that everything is created out of, but from the point of view of its deeper essence. Because all the components in the soup of the lymph are actually made out of H. Now, Mr. Keshe is asking us to make a leap in our knowledge and try to realize that the transparent lymph which is in the liquid form, is actually the same as the transparent Space between all the planets, galaxies and universes. It's in a non-tangible state like a gas and we can see all the Heavens at night because it is transparent. This also means that the empty Space we see is not really empty, rather it is full of MG fields that are waiting to interact under the right conditions to manifest a physical dimension. This is exactly what happened in our SS billions of years ago between the fields of the Sun and the environment of Earth. In a way, we could say that the CR MG field Inertia had the desire to allow Earth to be created, and so it created the environment for it to happen. Now we can understand why in the recent past years Mr. Keshe changed the name of the technology to Cosmic Ray Technology, because Mankind had advanced enough in the Knowledge to understand that it is more fundamental than plasma.

What I understood, was that the CR MG field Inertia is the deeper background dimension that Creation takes place in. Maybe it is like the Wish of the Creator to confirm His existence. And if our STM can create a field that matches it, then we can change our manifestation from a Man to an animal, or anything else in the U, because we have understood how Creation works. The STM interacts with the environment and changes its manifestation. But this is actually the same way we create emotion and those fields become our behavior. In the Man it can appear as anger, but in the planet it can be a hurricane. It doesn't matter because the process is the same. Then there is the point that the energy of the CR MG Inertia has a cycle it follows. It's just like the daily routines of humans. We get up at the same time everyday and have breakfast, and follow our daily routine. The planet also follows its daily routine what we know as weather or whatever. It's important to understand these cycles are manifestation of the field interactions and that they are repeated in some way in all living structures in the Unicos from the cells to the universes.

This knowledge shows us that we don't need the physical part of the egg and sperm and womb of the Mother to create life. But we need to have the wisdom to know how to create those same fields. In the environment, we can create the MG field Inertia at that level of CR to create the Soul, and that will interact and create the P of the Man. We can also change the environment of Earth to allow other creatures of the U to live on Earth. For example, we can create an environment that the Children of Mitra can live here. Maybe in this regard he is speaking of the Children of Mitra as those in the U who are created purely out of the fields. Then they will be able to manifest on Earth, but maybe Earth has to be purified first, so the new creatures to Earth won't get corrupted into the killing process. He wasn't totally clear on that.

The main part is that humans have to learn how to create and control their emotions. It's through the emotions that we'll create the CR MG field Inertia to transmute and manifest the things we need to live. We should be aware that these types of emotions are not the ones we are used to in P of being happy or sad, or whatever. The emotions he is talking about are the creation of M field strength that allows us to create transmutation. We do this when we dream, we travel in our Soul through our emotion. But we don't think of it that way, we just say that we went somewhere in our dream. We are not aware that we first generated an emotion to do that. If we think back to the different experiences we've had, then we'll realize that when there was an absolute need to do something, we spontaneously found the right concentration and desire to achieve what we achieved. But when there isn't that pressing need, for some reason it seems hard to do. I think we have to learn how to access this concentration of will, and single pointed-ness of mental and emotional focus. In the future, humans will have to be taught this right away as children, because once all the bad mental habits get formed it is very difficult to overcome. Hopefully, the ONN (One Nation Network) Units will help us all overcome our deficiencies to change and live connected to the Soul. As he said, our biggest enemy in traveling the span of the U, is the consciousness of the physicality and our attachment to this worthless planet.

In the last paragraph of the first part he said, it's about the STP controlling the flame of its emotions so that it matches to the STM. The STM already knows how to match the CR MG field Inertia for the Cosmic Rays of the U. Then we can travel the Unicos. The essence of it is that we are connected to the STC, and that Creation provides the environment which determines how that energy will manifest itself. The emotion is how we can play and do things throughout Creation. The purpose the Creator gave Man emotions was not to get stuck in reacting and showing ourselves as happy or sad, but to use them to travel the U and to be able to love. Our emotions are connected to the 5 senses of sight, sound, touch, taste, and smell, and these all have to be synchronized and brought into harmony under the Soul. And it's the Soul through detachment that will use that energy for controlling the CR Inertia to manifest its desires. One of those desires can be to manifest ourselves in the center of the STC. The Soul was given to the Man for him to live in it, and not in the dimension of P, as he is doing now.

There seems to be a lot of activity going on in the background in regards to moving towards commercialization of the KF Plasma T into public. When people submit their inventions they should give full details otherwise KF will not be able to review their product properly. We should also understand that KF Plasma Science is way beyond what is going on now in the matter state, even the wireless power transmission that the Norwegians are working on, by putting copper wires in the roadways is obsolete even before they finish, compared to what KF is doing in the background. KF won't even look at things like that, because we are already 200 years ahead of it. Knowledge Seekers (KS) should keep in mind that KF doesn't want to go backwards, but forward into plasma development and will accept and support those developers who are open to understand the future and are working in that direction. Having said that, Mr. Keshe still wants you to keep sending him your inventions if they are sincere.

In Tibetan Buddhism Guru Padmasambhava holds a skull cup in his hands they call the Wish Fulfilling Jewel, which really is a symbol for the Mind. A deeper understanding of this was given by Mr. Keshe in that we can change even our health conditions simply by our wish. Obviously, this is not a casual thought of the physicality, but a concentrated desire that has focus and intention behind it, together with correct behavior and living the Ethos of Mitra. We learned today that scientifically we have to change the field strength of our environment to change what gets manifested in it. There is much more to it. In the example of the re-growing of the amputated toe, he said, it wasn't just the T, the woman also had the love for life and wanted to continue to live. In this case, at the age of 55, the woman had fallen so much in love with her next door neighbor that she was able to use her emotion to create the environment for her toe to be re-grown. The STP creates the fields of the manifestation, and the STM creates the conditions of the environment for it to manifest in. One day he'll teach us how to do it. In the meantime if we really have the desire our Soul can show us how.

Just to make it clear he stated that she did not need the T to re-grow her toe, she could have done it on her own, like how the lizard re-grows its tail. But sometimes we need to see something to believe in, because we don't have that faith in ourselves. It's about accessing the emotion of the Soul. In the past he taught us we have 3 Beings inside us the STM, STP, and P and each have their own emotions. So our mental atmosphere is like a transparent screen where these different emotions appear on. In a way, learning to distinguish between the 3 is our spiritual work of self-discovery. One way to understand this is, when we meditate sometimes we experience something that is not thought. It can't be explained properly in words, or to people who have a mostly physical mind. All we know are our thoughts, so if we experience something that is not thought, what could it be, other than the STM? Another example, is to spontaneously feel and think about someone we love, and then suddenly the phone rings and that person is calling. Then we wonder whether it was just coincidence or were the Souls communicating with each other? So if we want to meet our Mother we don't have to move our P in that direction, all we have to do is create that emotion in our Soul, and then give the field strength of the emotion of the P.

We are trained to think that it is our Ego who is in control of our life. We never imagined that the environmental field itself can set up certain things for us to do, and we cannot escape it. We can delay it for some time, but eventually it comes back to us and we have to carry it out. These can be emotional, psychological, or any other kind of experience. Mr. Keshe explained how all the knowledge he imparts was a gift given to him at a very young age. But he knew how he could delay carrying out his mission, because he felt he was not mature enough to handle the problems of changing the world governments. Twice he was able to escape it, at the age of 19 and 29, but the third time he could not refuse it. He had played long enough and now it was time to deliver it. The point is that in our life there are certain things we can change, and certain things we cannot. And when the Souls have set up something for us to do we cannot get out of it. And surely, many of us have examples of this in our own life, especially around how we all came to the technology and what role it plays in our life.

Everything is made out of the fields, nevertheless, we can make a distinction between them. When we speak about M fields we are talking about fields that are associated with an entity, something that is tangible like an instrument, magnets, or material things. When we speak about Cosmic Rays these are free and don't have a source, though we might find a source for them. CR are from the Creator and they travel the Cosmos until they find a home. They might become our thoughts and emotions and become part of our life. Every physical matter has a connection to a Cosmic Ray, because that's where it receives its energy from. Scientists have never been able to explain why the magnets in the generators of Niagara Falls have not worn out or decreased in energy for the past almost 150 years. Now we know, because they are connected to CR and that's where the power is coming from to light up New York City. Our bodies have to convert the 80% of the energy it receives from the CR into a usable field strength. Today, he partially revealed the secret of how the CR Balls are made. He said, if you break up matter in the correct way, it can become a Cosmic Ray itself. This is what we do when we make Gans. When we put iron dust on top of paper with a magnet underneath we see the matter state magnetic field lines. If we put Gans on top of it we won't see anything. To see the fields of a Gans we have to expose it to water and then rapidly freeze it. The lines we see in the ice are actually Cosmic Rays.

I was pleasantly surprised to find out that KF has received 8,000 orders for the ONN Units and they will hopefully go out by the end of the year. This means we'll be able to create a secure network that will get transformed into a Plasma Communication network, and we'll be free of outside interference and be able to bring peace to the planet. The reason for the delay was the unprovoked attack on Iran by Israel and the US. Mr. Keshe was trying to get Iranian computer programmers to develop the plasma but the government needed them for its defense. Now that has been sorted and the process should move much faster. KF still needs people who understand Blockchain for developing the Enlightenment Game.

An important teaching was given about how to understand field strength and that the numbers we are given are in the matter state and can be completely overridden in the plasma state due to field interactions. For example, Ca is 40 and Amino Acid (AA or COHN) is 43, but this is the matter state. The C - O - H - N are all isotopes of different energy states. Therefore, the AA could be sitting at 35, and since Ca is Gravitational and has a higher Mass density it will pull the AA into itself to become a combination element or cell in the body. The separation between the M and G lines get deeper. Then the millions of combinations lead to different cells. When Ca AA combines with Mg we might get a kidney cell, and with Mg and Silicone it might be a liver cell. All these different cells in the body come from slightly different field strength combinations. And the Ca is at the base and acts like a web that catches different elements out of the soup of the lymph.

The answer about whether multiple electrons can be on the same orbit was given. No, they are slightly different from each other and we don't have the instruments to measure, nor knowledge to understand it. The electrons like the planets and moons cannot be on exactly the same orbit, otherwise they collide, and also because the MG field strength of the materials they are made out of are not exactly the same number. They have different numbers of Cu, Zn, etc in them so they have a different orbit.

It's questionable whether NASA really sent 4 humans to orbit the Moon. Mr. Keshe put up a lot of doubts but did not directly answer that question. We have to wait and see if when we actually go to the Moon will we find the Apollo 11 footprints and machinery left behind? However, the question about the radiation is serious and we already see negative effects on astronauts that come back from the Space station. Mr. Keshe spoke on that before and we know they keep it hidden from the public. When we go to the Moon with KF Plasma T we want to transmute and become a Moon Being so we are free to experience the environment and this will give us a lot of added scientific knowledge.

A lot was spoken at the end about the war in Iran. He is putting the number of American deaths at 40,000 not including the Missing in Action. The Iranians lost 250,000 and the Israelis 200,000. He clearly stated the Americans have lost the war but they cannot let the world know about it and have started killing more civilians. The Iranians filed a court case against Netanyahu, Trump, Israeli and American governments and it has been secretly recognized internationally. They will have to pay war damages to Iran and their assets will be sold off to the Chinese at half price. They will keep the war going for the gangsters to stay out of jail. The Iranians are still refusing to release the Plasma T and are waiting for the October 29th teaching which is also the 666 KSW. It's very strange because if you talk about the plasma and what it can do, then the simple minded religious people will say, 'that's the Antichrist.' There is no way to win with these people. They have their minds fixed. Unfortunately, we still have very difficult times ahead. But in the end the promise is, that the technology will be released and peace will come upon the Earth.

Thanks for listening.
