

Summary of How M Fields Interact to Create Creation - Transmute to STC - Different Types Alzheimer's - Microplastics Convert to Sugar - AA Creation - Phones - Ceasefire

Introduction to 639 KSW

Note: Not checked by KF interpretation by KS of KF Brazil

Today's workshop started out with an analogy of how M fields create the Universe (U) and was repeated in answer to a similar question in the second half. As Mr. Keshe said, we keep coming back to the same points again and again, but with more elaboration. There were a lot of different topics in this teaching, which will we try to extract parts of it to help Knowledge Seekers (KS) organize their own study of KF Plasma Science. As we know from past teachings the difference between Cosmic Rays (CR) and M fields is in how they are used, but in essence they are the same. When the fields are traveling through the U they are in a potential state but they don't do anything. These are the CR, and when they interact with another field or condition they become M fields. In a way, M fields are the local manifestation of the energy of the Creator that travels Creation looking for something to do. And in essence it is the same Ray. The analogy of cars traveling on a highway at high speed perfectly describes this situation. When they are going so fast you cannot know who is in the car, in that way they are without identity, because they haven't yet interacted with anything. If you put a service station along the highway, now those who feel like it can drive off and interact with others of a similar feeling, while the rest of the cars continue on their journey until they find something they like or need to do. The service station belongs to the local area and is only related to those fields. This is a good image of how life in the Creation takes place. There is nothing else to it. It is that simple. It starts out with just two fields interacting and it starts growing more and more. This is how the variety and complexity of created things come about, but the basic pattern of Creation is the same. Gradually, life builds up and becomes the story of the Universe, and there are other Universes in the Unicos.

In this analogy the service station is that force that attracts fields together, and this is called gravity. We could say that Earth is like a service station on the highway of our Solar System and its gravity is that force that attracts other fields to it. It's very important to understand that gravity by itself does not have the power to create, for that we have another term, what we call, Inertia. Inertia is one of those magical terms we started using when we wanted to talk about how things are created. But Inertia is very illusive and hard to pin down, maybe because it is not a thing you can see and touch. Even though Inertia is one of the causes for matter to be created, it is itself, not matter. I think of it as the desire to create, to manifest the fields in physicality (P). Mr. Keshe is always referring to what he calls, the 'confirmation of existence.' We need something tangible to confirm our existence. But we shouldn't be fooled into thinking we need the matter state to exist. We always exist in the state of Energy, it's only from the point of view of the matter state that we need to confirm our existence. If we only think of ourselves as a physical body, then we always have this fear of how to continue to survive. We should be very clear about what we are talking about otherwise, we make our fears stronger. If we already exist in the state of Energy, or as a Soul, then there should be no fear. It's out of the joy and love to Be, that we manifest physicality out of the fields. So we have the gravity of the Earth, but where is the Inertia?

In the past we were taught that the Soul of the Man (STM) is of a higher order plasma and is directly connected to the Creator, via the Soul of the Creator (STC). The Creator radiates His Love, or fields as Cosmic Rays. It is my understanding that Earth's gravity comes from the CR MG field Inertia, and this is the same as the Soul of the Planet. And the STP of Earth is the local Inertia of this area in Space. The pattern in Creation is that it initially comes out of the interaction of two fields, and these are the Soul and the STP of that entity or plasma. When we talk about how matter got created on this planet we say the fields of the Sun interacted with the fields of the Earth and due to the Inertia of Earth and created water, the elements, all the particles like Cu and the rest of it. So a Cu mine in South Africa got created out of the local Inertia interacting with all the other fields. In summary, the Soul of the Earth is the gravity that pulls and holds all the plasmas like the elements to itself to become the Planet. And it's the STP of Earth, which is divided up into all these local Inertias that manifest different things. For example, the local Inertia of Cu cause Cu to be deposited as a Cu mine in this area and not somewhere else. In the same way, water manifests in the local Inertia of oceans or whatever.

It's the same with our bodies, the local Inertia of where the liver is, causes liver cells to be created there. We call that the STP of the liver. It's very interesting to think about. The pattern of Creation is to gather together particles of the same field strength to create a shape, or an entity. Everything is made up of little pieces that build up into a structure of the entity. We understand that about matter because they taught us in school, that this piece of Cu is made up of Cu molecules and atoms. And we accepted that, as inanimate and not alive. But with the body it's more difficult to imagine because it is alive, grows and functions. The STP of the Man is made up of all these little pieces in our body and each gather together according to their own Inertia. So when Mr. Keshe says, Inertia is the STP, then we understand that it fits in with the same pattern as the rest of Creation. In a way, Creation is the gathering together of little bits and pieces to create something, and it follows a simple pattern we all can understand. To an ignorant person it looks complicated, but the complexity comes out of the stacking up of all the little pieces that are really the same in essence.

We made up all these different terms for the same process because we didn't understand how the Creation works. Once we understand how Creation comes about then we see that these different words are referring to the same thing. It's for us to make it clear in our own heads by studying and contemplating the Plasma. One thing to add is, that the CR MG field Inertia for Earth is a weaker state and that's why it has a solid surface. Whereas as the Sun is of a higher order and it has a liquid surface. But it is still the same pattern of the Soul interacting with the STP manifesting its P. And that's the same as saying, the gravity pulled everything together and the Inertia manifested it. Or the STC interacted with the STM and manifested the U. When we understand this, then we don't need intermediaries such as Prophets, and those kind of things, because when we connect with our Soul then we are automatically in the natural process of Creation, and connected to everything and have access to the knowledge.

Another way to understand the phrase, 'my wish is my command' is from the point of view of the Soul and not the Ego. The Soul feels connected to every Being and feels the joy of shining together with others, but not by controlling them. The Soul doesn't feel it owns another Being. In a way, Earth is the testing ground to see who lives by the Soul and who by the Ego. In our physical life we are constantly being tempted to disown our Creator, and live the life of separation and ignorance, which really is suffering.

All these years Mr. Keshe has been teaching us about transmutation and we thought it was about traveling from point A to point B instantly like what we see in Sci-fi movies. In a way, we were being tested, like the way they test how hot a flame is by seeing if it will melt gold. As human's we might have been thinking how wonderful it would be to just appear anywhere we desired. But that was not the point at all, and maybe that's why we haven't been able to see someone transmute. I think people transmuted, but they don't tell anybody because Man is not ready. In this workshop he said the point of transmutation is to transmute into the STC, then all the Knowledge of the U will be ours. We'll be enlightened to our Source and then physicality won't have the same meaning as it has now. Instead of learning all the little pieces of knowledge and having to continually gather more and more knowledge, we'll receive it all at once. But you may ask, what would we do with all that knowledge? It won't be to get patents and become rich like we do now. Our lives will become one of the joy of serving others and as we share knowledge unconditionally we'll continue to grow and learn more. It seems this is the attitude Mr. Keshe wants us to develop internally when we try to practice transmutation.

A question was asked if certain entities have the power to destroy a Soul into nothingness. The answer is left open for our interpretation. The Plasma Science of it is, that plasma follows the law of conservation of energy, which means the energy is not destroyed instead it changes form and becomes something else. It was not clear, but it sounded like if a Soul reached the point of manifesting matter state, then that spectrum of fields would stay together to manifest the new form, whatever that may be. But all depends on the perspective of the observer as to what one would see or experience of that entity. However, we do see one being destroy another in matter state, but not back to nothingness, because even in matter state there is a Conservation of Energy, so it would just change forms and not really be destroyed.

When a Soul manifests in an environment the STP of the entity has to create the appropriate body to convert energy. So if Man would not have chosen to kill and eat other Beings on this planet then there would be no need for organs like the stomach. In the future when we change over to receiving energy through the fields the body won't need a stomach and all the other organs. That might be a little shocking for some people, but it's the reality of life in the U. The stomach was not a mistake, it was what was needed for humans and animals to live the way we live now on Earth. Other Beings in the U absorb energy directly through their bodies, so they don't manifest organs.

Mr. Keshe spent a lot of time studying Alzheimer's and these kind of conditions. He came to understand, that back in the 1950's until 1970's, before unleaded gas came, we all were breathing in the lead and over time the accumulation in our bodies is what is causing the Alzheimer's for this generation. The next generation of Alzheimer's will come from the global use of aluminum (Al) as cooking pots, but mostly as the Al foil containers in fast food and take-out restaurants. Added to that will be the Teflon coated pans and global use of plastic. Normally it takes the human body 10 to 20 generations to evolve and find a use for the pollution, but what's happening now is that so many different toxins are coming together at the same time that there is no time to adjust. The lead is much worse than Al in disturbing the electrical circuits of the brain. We are going to end up with a lot of mentally ill people running around the planet. When the Al as an energetic substance starts moving through the body it behaves like Ca and solidifies into a seed of cancer, and starts to grow, like how an oyster puts layers on a pearl. KF is doing research to find ways to handle this situation through the plasma technology.

At the same time they are working to find a solution for the microplastics in our body. Actually, the plastic is not all bad if we can find a way to break the C and H bond, then the body can use it like sugar. Way back in the 1970's they had an advertisement on TV where they tuned it to a song called 'C & H pure cane sugar ...,' but we never understood what it meant. All these years the song remains in our heads, and now Mr. Keshe is teaching us the importance of the Carbon & Hydrogen. The plastic then becomes a source of energy, but of course, we don't want to purposely eat plastic, it's far better to take the energy through Cosmic Rays. What if the H from the plastic is making our children more intelligent? We are approaching this scientifically and want to understand the mechanism and how the body evolves in its environment. For instance, if there were a metal attached to the C-H bond then we would have something to worry about. But for now it is just C-H, which we recognize as the same as sugar.

One of the ways we could break the C-H bond is by developing a Plasma T in the form of a bracelet. As the fields in the blood flow through bracelet they would be changed. Or the body might evolve itself to create a special organ to do it. Now we can understand that even having a stomach is not mandatory, it depends on the field condition and how the STM interacts with the STP and creates the necessary physical manifestation for us to confirm our existence. And this is all related to our emotions and what our purpose in life is. In a way, the Source of Creation is random fields, but when they interact and create plasmas, which evolve into Souls with consciousness and emotions, then Creation becomes directed by intention. This is what they call a 'personal God.' So the argument about whether or not there is a God, is not a 'yes or no' answer. It's about understanding how the M fields interact and using that knowledge to direct Creation. The chaos we have in society is because humanity lacks the Knowledge of Creation and that will all change with the introduction and acceptance of the KF Plasma Science.

It's like the 'age old' question about finding a cure for cancer. All that argument is motivated by making businesses that lead to huge profits. They are not interested in knowing about how cancer is created and how it functions. What they call cancer comes about when we get the process of calcification occurring. Remember that every cell has a seed of Ca in it, and the cells are in the Gans plasma state. When the right conditions arise the Ca solidifies and becomes the matter state. Today he said that calcification cannot occur without the H, and it needs the C as a connector to do it. If we increase the energy of the H, the C won't be able to coagulate. The assumption is this prevents the Calcification. The secret to curing cancer is energizing the H, but it has to be done in a specific way. He just gave a huge hint to the scientists. But the dilemma for them is how to make money out of it. In the meantime, the KS should try as hard as they can to find a way to get the ONN Units spread across the planet, so that all of us can have access to this amazingly beautiful knowledge.

We have known that the electromagnetic radiation from mobile phones is not good for the health of the body. Some friends of mine live a spiritual life, and in their presence one feels a sense of inner peace. They told me whenever they have to put a phone near their ear they get a headache, so they try to always use the speaker. Mr. Keshe said, the same thing today, that he always uses the speaker, he has nothing to hide, and he does it for his health, and if the others are bothered they can close their ears. Generally, people are trained to be afraid of what others will think of them, and even if they have the knowledge they are willing to damage their health rather than to stand up in their own truth. He has a very strict rule not to have phones or electronics in the sleeping room at night. They should not be in the room, because when they are turned off, they still act as a receiver to wifi. That's how your phone immediately connects to the Internet when you turn it on. Of course, we should use the Nano coated Cu wires in an Infinity Loop on the back of the phone to help filter the bad part of radiation. Edward Snowden is still paying the price of exile, for having brought us the knowledge of how we are continually being surveilled through the phones, televisions, and whatever. You may think that having a phone in the bedroom is fine, because you can't notice what it does to you. It creates a very subtle unease in the body and if you are not aware of your Energy then you won't think it is a 'big deal.' About a year ago I had to get a phone, and unfortunately I was always keeping near where I sleep. I decided to test Mr. Keshe's advice and I put them out, and I feel better already after only a few days. But it's a very subtle difference that is not easy to notice. In the same way the symptoms are very subtle, and part of it is that we are so used to being constantly poisoned, that it has become normal. Nevertheless, there are things we can do to help ourselves but we have to be motivated to understand and then act on it. It's part of the Thinking, Speaking, and Acting Good.

One of the things we can do is to create a plasma CR field environment around our house. This is why he spent years developing the KF Resin products because they purify our environment of poisons through the fields, and we don't have to do anything. We just buy them and hang them around the house. Make sure children don't put them in their mouth or touch them. The change will come through the fields of the environment. And those who make Gans's can do the same. But make sure nobody touches or digests them, as their energies are too concentrated for the human body. Drinking the Gans Water is something different, which we were already taught. In their tests they found that 99% of the animals prefer Gans Water over regular water. And they are raising fish totally on the fields without any physical food. They observe what effects it has on them and how their behavior changes. This is to prepare humanity for adopting the plasma Space technology. The gift of Gans technology was given to humanity years ago and now we can observe the difference between children of 'Gans Families' and normal children. They tend to be more intelligent, kind and observant. They have more energy and therefore their families on the surface appear more noisy, but if you look deeper you'll see they have a lot of love for each other. This gives us a glimpse of where humanity is heading in the near future as soon as we can start to spread the T.

There is a very important teaching on Amino Acids (AA) and anybody interested in making Food Gans should study carefully. Mr. Keshe revealed a problem we have in society where the public is taught science in such a general way, that it doesn't resemble reality of how the fields actually interact with each other and manifest P. A good example is how a KS made a chart of the properties and functions of food based AA, but it doesn't work that way in the body of the Man. In the chart, it says aspartagine comes from peanuts and does this or that in the body. They are implying this AA comes from the peanut in that chemical form. It's not true. When we eat peanuts the digestive system through enzymes convert that substance into an AA suitable for what our body needs. Everybody will produce the AA needed according the field structure of their own body. A bigger problem arises if we are dealing with animals, which are really Souls and they produce chemicals in their body according to their emotions, and then we eat their flesh. If there is a particular AA from chicken, it depends on, if that chicken is free ranging or caged, because it will produce different chemicals in its body according to the emotion of survival it experiences. If it's truly free ranging and content it will produce Omega 3, which is the source of a lot of healing in the human body. If it is caged and mistreated it will produce Omega 6 and the source of disease for humans. So we need to be knowledgeable and aware of the source of our food. In free ranging chicken eggs there is an important factor that is overlooked in commercial farming. Do the laying hens have a rooster tied to them, or are they without? I remember on my grandfather's farm they always had a couple of roosters around. Did they innately know that the hen needs a rooster to complete her life cycle and prepare for reproduction? Hearing the rooster crow creates an emotion in the hen of completing her cycle, and her body produces special chemicals for that process that end up in the egg. Commercial farms only focus on how much money they can make, and the consumer and society pays the price for breaking the natural rhythm of Nature. Children raised on these eggs have different awareness and concentration, and they don't crave sweets in-between meals.

There is bad news for those living in North America and especially America, because their food supply is so full of chemicals that Europe and other countries won't allow them to be imported. The big corporations are using the political lobbying system to create laws in their favor so not much can be done for the general public. But we can try to support organic farming, but they don't understand some of the knowledge Mr. Keshe spoke about today. We should try to find true traditional family farmers to buy food from. What the new KF Research Center is doing will change all of this, but it will take time.

We have to pray that they don't sabotage KF work and try to contaminate the crops. This will only slow down the process but not stop it. It was very good to hear that many KS are helping with the new Center, and we need more KS with the appropriate skills and expertise to help.

Einstein did not understand that light is really M fields, but somehow he guessed that gravity would bend light according to Newton's principles. Then the question was asked if light doesn't have mass then how can gravity bend it. Some clever scientists came up with an answer for that, they said, the light doesn't bend, but the space-time around it bends and that causes the light to bend. Now we have to listen to what a true Master like Mr. Keshe says. The light is a M field so of course gravity can bend it, but not just gravity like Einstein misled the people out of his ignorance. We know that mercury and glass can bend light, and light is reflected so it can bend also. But all this comes from higher knowledge. The main point of this is we need to redefine light as a M field and then we'll understand how it functions.

The Media is not telling the truth about the war on Iran. America and Israel attempted to steal Iran's enriched Uranium, but it was really a trap set by the Iranians. The Americans, using their most advanced technology and 400 elite Delta Force soldiers took the bait. One of the aircraft got damaged on landing, but when the troops left the plane they got a surprise welcome. Iran captured 173 and the survivors were killed by the Americans themselves so the technology wouldn't fall into Iran's hands and nobody would find out about their fiasco. Still the public doesn't know the truth. Trump was so mad he asked the Generals for the nuclear bomb codes to nuke Iran, but was refused. The captured soldiers are tied up at all the civilian infrastructure and nuclear centers, so if Trump starts to bomb he will kill his own troops. Americans have lost thousands of sailors in the Straights of Hormuz and this is the real reason they are wanting a ceasefire.

Mitra is symbolic for the expansion of the fields of the Creator. It is a sign of Creation. God has created many creatures in the U to manifest His beauty. And Mitra is the love of the Creator

Other Topics:

Instead of creating specific Gans's for each individual crop, KF research is testing a technology where the plants take what they need individually from the system according to their need.

Thanks for listening.
