

Life Created From Current and M Fields - Secret of Creation - Radiation - Controlling Heartbeat Through Breathing - Weakest Pulse - Gans of Electron - Resurrection - Game Introduction to 660 KSW

Note: Not checked by KF interpretation by KS of KF Brazil

There is a lot of very deep knowledge in today's workshop about how Creation takes place through energy and M fields. But Mr. Keshe used the word 'current,' which we usually use for electricity and associate it with electrons flowing through Cu wires. Science says, that the body works on electricity, but through chemistry and not wires. Elements like Na, K, and others break down into charged particles we call, ions. Then we have ions inside and outside the cell membranes and electrical impulses pass across the cells for movement of muscles and delivery of information. So in a way, the cells create their own 'wires,' and we can say what we see in the Macro, we also see inside the body as Micro. This is one of these workshops where he puts together past information and updates our knowledge to the level of plasma. It's quite challenging but I will try to put together what little I could understand from it.

First of all, it's confusing to think of electricity as physical electrons moving along wires. If we can upgrade our understanding of electricity to 'M fields in motion,' which is really energy, then we can also put aside that formula that robs our intelligence known as, $E=MC^2$. For those who are more science educated please forgive any mistakes I may make. My purpose is to try to make the plasma knowledge more accessible to ordinary people. So, if we say that, when M fields move they create energy, isn't that what happens inside an electric generator? We spin magnets inside a coiled Cu wire and generate energy, which is actually DC plasma. It becomes AC when we create a frequency in it, and that converts the plasma to matter state. Since the body is really in the Gans plasma state, then the electricity or energy inside the body is DC. In a way, the electricity inside the body is really plasma energy, but we call it electricity because that is what we understand. The scientists also found out that you can keep the magnet stationary, and move the electricity around it through the wires, and that generates more electricity. The point is, we all agree that M fields in motions creates energy, even in matter state. But how does that energy create motion in the physical dimension (D)?

Our Universal Family calls Earthlings the '4 wheelers' because we haven't yet learned how to create motion from MaGrav Positioning. On Earth we still think only Fe is magnetic, and not that the source of magnetism is the Universal Energy (UE) and everything is made of plasma and has G and M fields. So what we humans have done to create motion in physicality (P), is essentially, to add electricity to a generator and make it rotate and then call it, an electric motor, and using that to spin wheels. And this is how we move our P around the planet. By reading this it is clear that we are using the same energy and magnetism, but in a very low state of understanding, what we call the matter state. But it is the same knowledge. And how the U works is the same as how our body works and the cells in our body, and everything else. We are going deeper towards the Knowledge of Creation.

In the U everything works on the Yin and Yang, or the G and M fields, but there are different ways to categorize them. He called the body a monopole in that it is predominately G fields, and the Soul of the Man (STM) is also a monopole but is the M fields. They create the heartbeat by feeding each other. There was some added information that wasn't totally clear. It's something about being able to control through an external source, while being able to release energy internally, then you can create a heartbeat. There is also a connection to the Cosmic Rays (CR). This is the way, that not only the heart creates energy, but also every cell in the body. The two single poles of the P and STM, together are a bipolar system. Then radioactive material is added in a specific way, and with a pulse. Is the energy released what creates the heartbeat? Does the speed of the Soul interacting with the heartbeat, manifest the physical life?

Everything in Creation and every cell in the body uses this same system, and follows the same characteristics, but each have different dimensions and are at different field strengths. What I understood is the STM and P release energy that then create a current, which interacts with the M fields to create motion. And if we look through a microscope we see all the cells are vibrating or in some kind of movement, so the physical life of the Man is already one big motion. In the U there are no engines, everything works by field interactions. When the current and the M fields interact, this by itself creates motion. This is how everything and the U moves, and how the very first fields of the U started moving.

We don't know about this because it is not part of the terminology of Newton's Laws of motion, which say things like, a body remains at rest until it is acted upon by a force. These laws don't deal with the energy itself, but only after it acts on something. What's confusing to the matter state trained mind is, where did that energy come from? In Plasma Science, how I understand it, is the Original Ray traces out everything in the U but doesn't disappear. That is opposite to when you draw a line on water, which disappears. In Creation, the M field remains like a matrix, and then the fields continually cross over and interact with itself. The motion of the Ray or the fields itself creates energy just by moving, that then, interacts with the already created M fields. In a way, it is a self-contained system. This seems very strange to us, because our science doesn't accept the M fields and the energy. In the East they understand the Qi, but not the M fields. So humanity's knowledge is increasing and now we are being taught that the energy and M fields converge with each other and create a beat, which creates Life, and all the different entities. Each entity has its own beat, its own M fields, and filter or attract certain energies to itself that it becomes what it is meant to be. That could be a cell of the heart, blood, or whatever, and it creates every motion of the physicality of the Man. It can also be a solar system, galaxy, or U. In addition, this is how the U expands, and how the cells expand. And how we get the motion of the blood, within the blood. And how we get the motion of the fields of the U within the Cosmic Rays. There is no difference in how the energies and the M fields work whether in the body or in the U. This is a very deep understanding of life, and is needed to transmute.

To transmute we need to create the energy of the M fields of the U with our Soul, and match them to the M fields of the Spirit, and when they match the Soul can transmute. We do this when we sleep and dream. We can also consciously do it through by being able to control the Soul or the Spirit, or matching the two together. It's related to controlling the heartbeat and the current it creates. It's not fully understood, but he said, that the heartbeat creates a pulse through the Cosmic Ray fields in the structure of the "sun" of the heart. These fields create an energy that goes up and interacts with the STM, and this creates the energy of the Man and puts the Soul into motion. It seems that here he is talking about a special case, where a person reaches the level of enlightenment, and perhaps, by putting the Soul into motion it creates enough energy that the STM expands over the whole body and separates from the P, manifesting death, but it takes the energy of the STP with it to somewhere in the U. When the time is right and the Soul can come into balance, tune into the field strength of the environment, and through the generosity of the Soul of the Creator within the structure of the energy of the physicality of the Spirit of the Man, it can create a new star. When we transmute we can try to be more attached to the plasma of the STM than to the P of Earth, and we might end up becoming a star somewhere in the U. While this is happening we are still responsible, and we still feed the entities that are connected to our Soul with our leftover energy. This is a law of Creation and cannot be let go of, and it's very new concept for us to grasp. I wonder if we ever will meet these 'mystery children' we have created.

It all comes down to being able to control the heartbeat which we do through our breathing. I understood that we can control the amount of energy the heart (STP) creates and that flows upwards to interact with the plasma fields of the STM, and that creates the emotions and the motion of the body. If we understand this then we don't need systems to transmute. One of the 'stumbling blocks' for the Man is that he doesn't know how to control it, and he is a 'control freak,' and finds it very hard to surrender to a higher process. Part of the 'deal' is to live the Ethos of Mitra.

Because Man is so physical he always thinks he needs the biggest and the strongest to do anything in life. However, the secret of Creation is to use the lowest fields to travel on. When we sleep the fields of the heart reduce so the Soul can go out. The secret is to make a weaker pulse on the same current, this allows the Soul to expand and create the motion of travel. There is some way to transmute using electromagnetism and the current flow, but it wasn't clear. We travel through the lower fields but still remain connected to the STP and that's why in the morning when we are called, we immediately wake up. And that in old age because our fields are weaker, our Soul actually travels faster. What we were taught today is the secret of Creation and how to transmute, and how the U continues to expand by billions of kilometers everyday.

This teaching on ionization is very advanced thermodynamics of M fields and is a knowledge unknown to Man. We see it with UFOs but we don't understand it. I will try to summarize what I could understand of it. What we call ionization is only for the matter state, and does not happen in the plasma state. The definition of ionization is when an atom or molecule becomes positively or negatively charged by gaining or losing electrons. One example is adding salt to water and getting positive and negative ions. Another is when we create X-rays and Gamma Rays by high voltages. I think when the electrons or protons are ionized they release radiation as X-rays and Gamma Rays, as a by-product of the interaction. Because we don't understand how M fields interact or accept the plasma this then, is what we are limited to. This kind of radiation is dangerous to physical bodies. It's still plasma fields we are working with, but at a very low level. If we understand how the M fields interact then we don't need to use ionization. But we need to know how to convert Universal Energies and interact them with the M fields of the Earth to create matter state. We also need to understand how to match the fields to the Inertia of the elements. Remember Inertia is the desire of the Energy to manifest P according to local conditions. Working with the fields of the plasma is far more effective than using the ionization process.

It seems he said, the ionization process creates a Nano structure of the electron. We know that GANS means a 'Gas in the Nano State,' it's a single plasma or atom. In a way, when we make a Gans of a matter state we are converting it to a plasma, and he calls it, 'a Gans state of the electron.' This is somewhat confusing, but we'll try to unravel it. A Gans Electron is in the energy matter state and is the controller of the Inertia. There are two different Inertias, one is the Inertia of the planet, and the other is the Inertia of the matter state, which is in the D of the Gans state of the electron. This knowledge will help us in how we can construct the matter state and transfer energy through matter. And it will help us understand how the heartbeat works. At the Soul level the cells of the body don't take energy, instead they create a beat, or a fluctuation in the fields of the plasma, and this creates a harmonic of the plasma of the electron. We were taught to think of the electron as a little round ball, its actually an independent plasma.

In matter state we use high voltage to dislocate an electron which gives off radiation as X-rays, Gamma Rays, etc., but it depends how we define radiation. In Plasma Science the fields do not give off radiation. What happens is the plasma fields interact with the lower matter state fields and create friction, and the radiation comes from that. This is a much easier way to make radiation. In the U, X-rays are created from the interaction of the fields of the plasma with lower state matter energy. This is also how Cosmic radiation is made. If you can create a counterpart to these radiations as an Infinity Loop type interaction, I think he meant, you'll get a perpetual source of energy. This is one of the reasons the heartbeat has a rhythm and is continuous. It has what he calls, 'muscle energy field strength' through the plasma of the Inertia of its own blood. He seems to be saying, that the plasma includes ions or energies, and Cosmic Rays within the body.

An amazing knowledge is that the motion of the muscles of the heart in itself, creates a huge amount of radiation continuously. Once he said, you can feel the fields 3 meters away from the heart. The plasma of the ions of the atomic structure of the muscles release very low energy fields of X-rays, Gamma rays, etc. This is how the blood is energized, and not by the made up theory of oxygenation. Understanding this you can increase the plasma energy in the body. The system of the plasma and what he calls, the plasma of the ion, or the electron is interlocked to each other, and creates the Inertia of the body. It holds all the elements in the body through its own plasmatic Inertia, and not the matter state Inertia. To me it seems that this term, 'Gans state of the electron' is ruling over the plasma of the whole body, and controls the Inertia. Before he said, there are 3 independent entities of the STM, STP, and the P that make up the Man. Maybe this Gans of the Electron is a controller of the physical body. We'll have to wait and see how he reveals the knowledge further.

According to the Catholic Answers website: 'Resurrection is the rising again from the dead, the resumption of life. The Fourth Lateran Council teaches that all men whether elect or reprobate, "will rise again with their own bodies which they now bear about with them." It basically means, we'll take back our bodies and continue on living the way we do now, but eternally. When we were taught this as children our hearts knew something was wrong with it, but we just didn't have the knowledge. And then the priests threatened us with being condemned to eternal hell if we went against them. The only options they gave us was to go along with it, rebel against it, or seek the knowledge within and become free of them. This doesn't just apply to Catholicism, but to any and all concepts we are programmed with, or brainwashed with as children. The KS was asking Mr. Keshe, if resurrection is true, then why don't we see these resurrected bodies walking around Earth? The way I understood his response is, because it is not true how they understood and taught it. They 'fooled the fools' with their ignorance and wanting to control others. What is resurrection then?

Resurrection in the light of Plasma Science is nothing other then transmutation. Transmutation is the knowledge of the emotion of the Soul, and of manifestation. The Soul itself decides what it wants to do and whether it wants to come back to Earth or continue on to other destinations in the U. We should remember that the Soul while it's living on Earth creates connections to other dimensions and is committed to them. After death the Soul will transmute and see itself living in other physical dimensions anywhere in the U.

If the Soul wants to come back to Earth as a new body it takes a lot of understanding and very few can manage it. It depends on how attached you are to the fields of this planet. This gives new insight into the errors of reincarnation as taught in Eastern spirituality. He said, that Man has been able to achieve resurrection, but it is of a lower order, and requires a strong attachment to the D of the Earth. In other words, the Soul has to be more attached to the P, than to the Soul of the Creator, which is a higher spiritual realization. Is this referring to Jesus? According to Mr. Keshe he was very attached to women and the first person he revealed himself to, as written in the Bible was Mary Magdalene, and she didn't recognize him because he would have had to re-manifest a new body. The scientific understanding of resurrection, or transmutation is for the Soul to continually experience new dimensions, and not to resurrect as a physical body to live forever in only one place. How boring that would be. It took 9 months to mature the body in the womb of the Mother, and the Soul is matured at the end of the physical life, even if it is only a short time, as in dying during childbirth. The point of life on Earth is to enlighten and know we are a Soul, that, then gives us access to eternal life as a Soul to travel and live throughout Creation. If our Soul reaches the appropriate level it can become a new star.

There was a long discussion by Eckmar who is the KS mainly responsible for creating the Enlightenment Game, about how it works and some of the new developments. One of the important developments is to find a way during the transition period, which he estimates at 5 years for those who sell products with the KC to be able to convert it to fiat currencies like the Euro and others. At the moment, we are waiting for the Banking authorities in Austria to give their approval of the use of KC internally within the KF. There should be no delay, as it can only be used internally, but as usual they find some excuse to delay the process. Another KS claims that when he does some of the breathing methods while playing the Game he has been feeling different effects from the Energy, and was wondering if they were using the Cosmic Rays (CR). That was neither confirmed, nor denied. Eckmar did say he was hoping that Klaus will be soon ready to start testing transmitting CR to the Game.

In the Telegram groups last week the Vietnamese KS acting as 'ambassador' to confirm the true identity of his fellow countrymen for the Game, was lodging a barrage of complaints and criticisms against KF and brought Mr. Keshe into the discussion. It was very disappointing to find out that he was part of the ring of others who were cheating in the Game. Nevertheless, Eckmar explained that their KC were not taken away from them as he claimed, only the different levels they cheated on.

The Plasma Science as taught by KF has been around for decades and has saved many lives and has brought many changes to human knowledge. In all these years, the rulers of the planet have not allowed Keshe Foundation's name to even be mentioned. This is a testament to what Mr. Keshe said today, that we don't wait for people's acceptance of the Plasma Technology, we keep on with our work, and it will do its own work. But why don't we need people's acceptance, that's how humans appear to work? Because we are working at the level of the STM, we don't have to wait for the P to say it agrees. And we know the real motive behind those agreements are for those in power to make money and have control. We are not doing this to make money, but to change the fundamental basis of human knowledge. At the moment, human knowledge is constantly changing and creating confusions because it is not the Knowledge of Creation. What Mr. Keshe is bringing is the Knowledge of Creation, and the changes will be permanent.

Thanks for listening.
